AS ONE ESK LOVER TO ANOTHER...

Local football fans and transplanted Edmontonians turned out in force at Patricia Bay Airport Sunday to offer a rousing welcome to the defending Grey Cup champions. Far out in front of the reception line was little Donna Dickie, a former Edmonton resident, who climbed right up on head coach Frank Ivy's lap to make it clear that she "loves those Esk." The button is a souvenir from a previous Grey Cup. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

GREY CUP FANS THROW GRAIN PIT FOR A LOSS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was suspended for several minutes today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange when a parade of Toronto football fans, led by the Toronto girls' pipe band, marched into the pit. The fans are in Winnipeg for the day en route to the Montreal Alouettes versus Edmonton Eskimos Grey Cup game in Vancouver next Saturday.

Cheer leaders turned hand springs on the trading floor. Several traders joined in an impromptu square dance.

Traders whistled and cheered as Miss Canada, 22-year-old Delyce Smith of Whitehorse, Yukon, and Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cat, 18-year-old Joan Lounsbury, were brought into the pit.

Frank Rolph, parade chairman, said the 216 fans who left Toronto Saturday "have been having lots of fun but they're not getting much sleep." They leave by train for Calgary tonight.

New Deal Clears Way For Giant Pipeline

OTTAWA (RUP)—An agreement has been reached between Ontario and the federal government on the building of the costly Northern Ontario leg of the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said today.

Details will be revealed later today, by means of "several announcements" by his office, Mr. Howe said.

It was understood one of the scheduled announcements would cover an agreement between the federal government and the Trans-Canada Pipeline Company on construction of the 675-mile stretch from the Ontario-Manitoba border to Kapuskasing, Ont.

The Northern Ontario bridge, through market-scare territory, would cost about $118,000,000. Ontario would put up some $35,000,000 and the federal government would contribute the rest.

The two governments will join in the establishment of a crown corporation to supervise construction. Then through an other agreement between the federal government and the private company, Trans-Canada would lease that stretch of the line with an option to buy with in a 10-year period. At both ends it would connect with the rest of the 2,250-mile route to bring Alberta gas to eastern Canadian markets.

The governments will recover their construction costs, along with amortization and interest charges, in the lease rates and the purchase price.

The pipeline company, beset by financing problems for the past two years, will build the rest of the 2,200-mile pipeline from Princess field in Alberta to Toronto and Montreal.

The company must still hurdle the obstacle of a hearing before the federal power commission at Washington, D.C. The hearing involves the company's plan to sell part of the Alberta gas to the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company for distribution in the lucrative U.S. mid-west markets.

The gas would be taken by Tennessee at the Manitoba-North Dakota border via a spur line from Winnipeg to Emerson, Man.

Vatican Says Pope Pius Saw Christ in Vision

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today that the Pope saw a vision of Jesus Christ during the most critical moments of his grave illness last winter.

The recovery of the desperately ill pontiff began soon after.

The announcement was made by Luciano Casimiri, chief of the Vatican press office, upon authorization of the papal secretariat of state. The secretariat normally would make such statement only with the personal authorization of the Pope.

Casimiri told newspaper men that they could state that "responsible Vatican circles" confirm the report of the vision published last week in Oggi (Today), large Italian weekly magazine.

Oggi said that on Dec. 2, 1954 when the Pope's illness reached a climax the pontiff began reciting the prayer "anima Christi" (soul of Christ).

When he came to the invocation "in horae mortis mea, voca me" (in the hour of my death, call me), the Pope saw "the sweet person of Jesus Christ at his bedside," said the magazine.

"In that moment, the holy father believed that the Teacher came to call him to Himself, and, serenely answering to the call, he continued the prayer: 'Jube me venire ad te' (order me to come to you). Jesus, however, did not come to take him, but to console him and give him the certainty that his hour had not yet come."

NOT A DREAM

Oggi said: "The holy father is perfectly sure he saw Jesus—it was no dream: In that moment he was fully awake and clear-minded."

"On the following day, when it seemed there were no hopes left, when the world's newspapers already had been circulating grave forecasts of a forthcoming grave catastrophe, the ailing Pope started to improve in such a sudden manner that many people considered it a miracle."

Today's announcement by the Vatican recalled a previous declaration by a senior Vatican prelate that the Pope saw a vision of the Virgin Mary in 1951.

Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archbishop of St. Peter's basilica, made that announcement in October, 1951, during a commemoration of the appearance of the Virgin Mary at Fatima. He told a throng of tens of thousands that the Pope had witnessed the same miraculous vision at the Vatican.

Later, Vatican sources privately said that the Pope had observed not a vision of the Virgin Mary but the same phenomenal gyrations of the sun which were reported to have accompanied the vision of the Virgin Mary to the little shepherd children of Fatima.

However, officially the Vatican never explained the statement by Cardinal Tedeschini, whose position is close to the Pope. Nor has the Vatican ever made the private explanation given to newspaper men either official or public.

Decision to open the morning workouts to the public was probably prompted by the enthusiastic turnout of Victorians who packed Athletic Park for Sunday's light workout.

Nearly 3,000 watched as the Eskimos ran through passing, kicking and signal drills.

PASS DEFENCE?

It is probable that Eskimos will devote much of their afternoon practices to working out a pass defence to thwart the tremendous passing of Montreal quarterback Sam "The Rifle" Etcheberry, who led Montreal into the Grey Cup in thrilling victory over Toronto Argos Saturday in the Big Four final.

Victorians will be interested in watching the Esk patented twin-fullback formation, which, combined with the ball-handling split-T magic of quarterbacks Jackie Parker and Don Getty, forms an extremely deceptive ground game.

On the social calendar, the players probably will be restricted to a little golf and fishing, if the excursions can be worked in without disturbing coach Ivy's practice schedule.

Ivy made it clear Sunday that the team is here to work and work hard as it goes all out in an effort to become the only western team ever to win the Grey Cup two years in a row.

B.C. Crash Kills Pilot
VANCOUVER (RUP)—A student pilot was killed today when he lost control of his small civilian plane and crashed landed it between two houses on Lulu Island.

The pilot was identified as Nick Schilder, 23, of Vancouver.

The plane, owned by West Coast Air Services, was demolished. Windows of two nearby houses were smashed by an explosion which occurred seconds after the impact.

EDEN URGED TO FLY FOR TALKS WITH IKE

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Mail urges Prime Minister Eden to fly to Gettysburg, Pa., for talks with President Eisenhower.

The Mail, which strongly supports Eden's Conservative government, says that with the breakdown of the Geneva Big Four talks "a common policy has again become of critical importance."

The Daily Mail says Dulles minimized the Geneva failure because of the impending presidential elections in the United States.

It claims the same elections are influencing American support of Israel through a desire to conciliate the Jewish vote at home.

Britain, apparently, is supporting the Arabs.

"Here is a situation of grave danger," the paper says.

Soviet Leaders Denounce West

NEW DELHI (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev denounced the west today for "moving backward" on disarmament.

Addressing the Indian parliament, Bulganin said latest western disarmament proposals "put the clock back 10 years."

Khrushchev backed Bulganin with the charge that the "spirit of Geneva causes indignation to certain persons."

The two Russians, here on a state visit, hammered away at the theme of Russia's desire for peace. They spoke before parliament after Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru told them his country will not take sides with anyone in the cold war.

Neither referred to Nehru's address last night warning that "India is in no camp and in no military alliance."

Doctors had feared the mother, Mrs. Sadie Benjamin, would die if she recovered consciousness and found her baby was gone.

Emergency calls brought dozens of ambulances and army trucks speeding into this Berkshire village, 64 miles west of London, to handle casualties. Floodlights played over the scene as soldiers from a nearby ordnance depot cut into the wreckage during the night.

Claims Chemical No Longer Needed In City Supply

By PETE LOUDON

Mayor Claude Harrison will try to halt chlorination of Greater Victoria water supply next spring if he is re-elected Dec. 8.

He said today he knows the Greater Victoria Water Board, of which he is chairman, is in favor of the change.

But Reeve E. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, a member of the board, was not so sure the mayor's claim is correct.

The reeve said the question has not been discussed by the board to his knowledge. Personally he was a great lover of pure well water but "there might be good reasons for retaining chlorination of our Sooke Lake water supply, and I'm not prepared to back the plan one way or another until it has been discussed fully."

WATER BETTER?

Mayor Harrison claims the water has improved so greatly it is now nowhere near the danger point. It was shown last summer (by test), that water requires no chlorination, he said. "I think you'll find that it will be lifted by the spring."

He suggested the step might be effected "when the spring run-off is completed in May."

District water supply from the Sooke lake watershed has been chlorinated since early in the Second World War, when the step was ordered by the federal government as a protection for the thousands of troops and defence workers in the area.

REFERENDUM HELD

On Dec. 14, 1946, a referendum was held to see if the people of Victoria wanted to continue the measure. It passed by a majority of 573. Voting was 4,099 and no. 3,426.

The mayor said the wording of the referendum was a joke. "It was like asking 'are you still beating your wife?'"

He said the question before voters was "Are you in favor of continuing the protection of our water supply by chlorination?"

He added that in his opinion the decision to halt the procedure can be made by the Greater Victoria Water Board. The board is comprised of city, Oak Bay, Saanich, and Esquimalt representatives.

Asked why he thought the measure would go through, the mayor replied, "I know that's the feeling."

"We'll have the best water of any city on the continent... the forests are a great purifying element," he said.

Ladysmith Rink Scores Upset

VANCOUVER (CP)—An unranked rink from Ladysmith, B.C., playing only its third game of the season, defeated former Dominion champion Bill Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., 10-8 today to rack up a major upset in the first annual Totem bonspiel.

The Dr. A. H. Bowker foursome, whose last competitive play was in the Nanaimo bonspiel last March, led the Rose rink all the way, scoring a two-ender on the first, a five-ender on the third and a three on the ninth.

Here are results for other Victoria and Vancouver Island rinks taking part in the primary event's Draw No. 8:

Lauder, Victoria, 10; McCord, Vancouver, 8.
Barry, Barons, Alta., 7; Garraway, Victoria, 5.

Cartmell, Vancouver, 11; Osborne, Port Alberni, B.C., 4.
Maxwell, Sepprie, Sask., 9; Molesey, Victoria, 8.

PERSONNEL LACK
Councillors explained that the accounting department did not have the personnel or the accommodation to keep a full record of costs and for this reason the engineer was forced to do the work himself.

The final report on the sewage project is expected to become a stormy issue.

Here are some of the questions councillors will ask:

1. How much sewerage pipe is needed to complete the project?

2. Who is going to pay the difference for completing the project—the whole of Saanich or only the sewerage area.

TIMES' ELECTION FORUM

Evening Council Meetings Favored by Most Candidates

Here is today's question:

"Recently Mayor Harrison stated that he favored night council meetings. I believe it might build greater interest in civic affairs if citizens who during the day could attend meetings."

"Would you please ask council candidates their opinions on the matter?"

ELEVEN NOW CONTEND FOR CIVIC OFFICES

The Times election forum is expanding as more candidates come forward seeking Victoria council seats. Eleven are now in the running for either alderman or mayor.

If the opinions expressed today can be accepted as an indication of future action, Victoria council may sit in night meetings next year.

Readers who have questions to ask of candidates should send them to this newspaper; one question per letter. Times reporters will endeavor to conduct interviews for the answers.

out. The second time there were five or six. Finally there were none.

"People were just not interested. I am not in favor of night council meetings. It is not fair to ask a man who has worked hard all day to go down there when he is tired. It's not fair to the city either. A man should be at his best when he is doing city business."

Mayor candidate William A. Scott: "Night meetings only have value in so far as they would permit working men and women to hold office as in Saanich and the other smaller municipalities."

"Otherwise, I cannot see citizens leaving TV entertainment to be bored by the present dull and uninspiring council meetings. If they want to get citizens out I suggest Hans Gruber attend and provide a little necessary music which could inspire council members to better efforts and also prove to citizens that the orchestra is worthy of a city grant."

Alderman candidate Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood: "It is immaterial to me. I can attend in the daytime but if many want it at night... I'll go for it too."

Alderman candidate M. H. Mooney is visiting at Ottawa and not available for this forum. Alderman candidate Elmer D. McEwen could not be reached for comment.

Alderman candidate Mrs. Lily Wilson: "If the people would come out then we should have them. Morning, noon or night... If I'm elected I'll be there."

Alderman candidate Miss Jane Hall: "That has been a normal procedure for over 25 years."

Alderman candidate Hugh Ramsay: "That's one of the planks of my platform. I think it would tend to develop greater interest and probably bring out more candidates at election time. It might have the effect of bringing younger people to council meetings to see how council operates and thus they would be able to vote more intelligently."

Alderman candidate Joe North: "We did that when I was a police commissioner. It gives the interested citizen a chance... otherwise it has the same effect as closed doors... and closed doors are not right."

Alderman candidate A. K. Kingsley: "I support that. It gives people who are working an opportunity to see council business transacted. Often I have wanted to attend a council meeting but have been unable to because the meetings are held in the afternoon."

Alderman candidate Charles W. Hunt: "I am in definite favor of night meetings. The suggestion is one of the things which influenced me to run."

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH SUFFERS FIRE DAMAGE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Roof of St. Joseph's Church was half consumed by fire and the church badly damaged by water Sunday. Blaze broke out in the choir loft and the flames spread to the roof and organ.

Schoolrooms on the ground floor and in the basement were not affected. Firemen covered the altar with a tarpaulin. Damage was not estimated.

Committee Named By Nurserymen To Study Losses

A committee was formed at a special meeting Sunday of the Vancouver Island Nurserymen's association to survey losses to nursery operators in the recent cold spell.

Damage is expected to exceed $75,000.

The committee will report findings Thursday at the annual meeting, to be held in the Lake Hill Women's Institute hall.

Speaker at the gathering will be W.A. Robinson, an authority on insulation of nurseries. Election of officers for 1956 will follow.

Dynamite Snatched From Montreal Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—Firemen snatched dynamite from the path of flames today when a blaze roared through a three-storey building housing a hardware store near the heart of Montreal.

Firemen from 18 stations drenched the building on Notre Dame Street West with 40 streams. Thirty-five persons living on the second and third storeys of the building, near the CNR's Central Station, escaped without mishap.

The building was described as a rooming house as well as the headquarters of Lafleur Hardware Ltd. Fire director Raymond Pare said the dynamite and dynamite caps were stored separately in fire-proof boxes, minimizing the danger to his men as they removed the explosives from the basement of the structure.

A fireman toppled from a ladder but it was not known immediately if he was badly hurt. Two or three other firemen suffered minor injuries, it was learned.

Five Hurt in Brawl in Vancouver Home As Gang of Youths Hunt Teen-Aged Girl

VANCOUVER (CP)—A brawl involving juveniles who forced their way into a city home highlighted a weekend of minor violence described by police as the busiest in recent years.

One adult was sent to hospital and four others were injured when 10 youths forced their way into the home of J. M. McBride.

Police were told three youths, like officers, for a number of crimes that ranged from strong-arming to break-ins and assaults. Petty thievery during the weekend was reported to have cost victims more than $6,000.

Canadair Plans New Air Giant

500-MPH Turbo-Jet Craft Challenges Trans-Ocean Jets

MONTREAL (BUP)—Technical plans for an "exceptionally long-range" turbo-prop plane designed to compete with American-built jet airliners will be completed within two months, it was announced here today.

Canadair Ltd., one of Canada's biggest aircraft firms which announced recently it is co-operating with British and United States organizations to produce the 500-mph transport, said the new 100-passenger plane would be able to fly the Atlantic non-stop either way regardless of the weather. Canadair is a subsidiary of General Dynamics Corp.

The projected aircraft is being planned by Canadair, the Bristol Aeroplane Company in Canada and Britain, and Convair in the United States.

A Canadair spokesman said it was decided during the week-end to speed development of the new plane which its planners hope will be nearly as fast and much less costly to operate than American-built jets ordered by several airlines from the Lockheed and Douglas aircraft corporations.

500 MILES AN HOUR
Work is proceeding on "joint specification for a new exceptionally long-range" plane, Canadair said in a prepared statement. It will be "in the 500 miles-an-hour class" and be "designed around four Bristol BE-25 Turbo-prop engines."

Canadair said the plane would have "genuine non-stop, trans-Atlantic range, economically, in both directions at all times of the year, as well as excellent characteristics over shorter distances."

The reference to "genuine non-stop, trans-Atlantic range" was an implied criticism of the American jets, which most aviation sources believe will not be capable of crossing the Atlantic non-stop in the rugged winter weather.

Canadair said the aircraft fuselage and engines would be built concurrently on both sides of the Atlantic. The company said "a combined engineering group working in San Diego, Calif., with the background of the experience of Bristol on the long-range Britannia, will complete the technical specification by January."

The Canadian aircraft manufacturing firm now is producing military versions of the 104-passenger turbo-prop Britannia airliner for the Royal Canadian Air Force under licence to Bristol.

'PEACE RIVER JIM' DIES AT CALGARY

CALGARY (CP)—Col. James J. Cornwall, DSO, soldier, adventurer and former member of the Alberta legislature, died in hospital here Sunday night after a long illness. He was 86.

Col. Cornwall was known to thousands in northern Canada as "Peace River Jim" and was the first man to proclaim the agricultural possibilities of the Peace River district. To publicize this area, he organized and conducted a tour of soil experts and writers through it in 1910.

He was born in Brantford, Ont., received his early schooling there and then moved to Buffalo, N.Y., at the age of 14. His first job was selling newspapers. Subsequently, he sailed on ships on the Great Lakes and on the Atlantic.

FAMED MILER Roger Bannister "decided for Christ" at U.S. evangelist Bill Graham's weekend rally at Oxford and Cambridge universities. Bannister was among 500 who made "decisions," Graham aides said. So many attended the final service in St. Aldgate's Anglican, Oxford, that worshippers hadn't room to kneel in prayer.

Air Line Pilots Upset Over 'Bomb' Secrecy

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association said today it is concerned over a report that Trans-Canada Air Lines did not notify the captain of a Viscount passenger plane during a flight Saturday that a bomb was supposed to be in the plane.

The plane, flying from Ottawa to Toronto, landed safely at Malton Airport. It was grounded and searched after landing, but no bomb was found.

Captain Hugh Alcorn of Montreal, the pilot, said he knew nothing of the report that a bomb had been placed in the plane until he landed.

He said he was given landing precedence over two other aircraft circling the airport, but the control tower did not tell him why.

"I feel quite happy personally with the way it was handled," he said.

Walter Fairley of Winnipeg, managing director of the association, said Alcorn should have been informed so he could have lowered the pressure inside the plane.

Even a small explosion inside a pressurized plane would tear the aircraft to pieces, almost instantaneously, he said. Damage would occur only in a small area if the inside of the plane was at the same pressure as

Marie Dionne Fights Pernicious Anemia

CALLANDER, Ont. (CP)—Marie Dionne, frailest of the Dionne quintuplets since birth, today was reported in Montreal suffering from pernicious anemia. She left a Quebec convent last Wednesday and travelled to a hospital outside Montreal where two of her sisters are in training as nurses.

But Oliva Dionne, father of the four surviving quintuplets, said here today he knows only that Marie is ill and has been advised by doctors to build up her strength. They suggested a month would be needed to remedy a "run-down condition."

The 21-year-old girl, pale and fragile, left her cloistered convent Wednesday for the second time in 16 months. She, was said suffering from fatigue, loss of appetite and loneliness.

Pernicious anemia is a disease which causes diminution of the red blood cells and its main symptom is a loss of appetite.

Marie's parents are both at home here and say they have had no word specifying Marie's condition. Her quintuplets sisters Yvonne and Cecile are nurses at the hospital in Montreal's suburban Ville St. Laurent, where Marie is resting.

About 27 per cent of insurance policies sold in the United States in 1954 were for children under 15.

Warning Plan On Rezoning Urged for City

An amendment to the proposed 1955 zoning by-law to ensure that property holders are advised of contemplated rezoning in their neighborhood, is one of the aims of aldermanic candidate Arthur K. Kingsley.

Mr. Kingsley, a driver for Evans Coleman and Johnson Brothers and a city apartment owner, announced his candidacy Friday and outlined his platform today.

The candidate pointed out that many residents are unaware when spot rezoning takes place and do not have opportunity to object. He favors a wide notification of property owners by registered mail when changes are under council consideration.

Here are the other points in his program:

1. Sane and progressive civic administration.
2. Closer unity among council members and more attention given to municipal affairs, with a better informed public.
3. More industrial development of the area to increase business and provide employment.
4. Improved traffic control and parking facilities.
5. More modern and efficient garbage disposal system.
6. Encourage development of the city as a tourist centre.
7. Closer co-operation with outside municipalities for amalgamation of essential services.

Alec Templeton Hopes to Give Concert in Victoria Next Year

BY NORMAN CRIBBENS

Alec Templeton, sparkling pianist and deadly satirist, hopes to play in Victoria next year.

He told me this in Seattle Saturday night after entertaining an enthusiastic audience at the Moore Theatre with works by Bach, Mozart, Chopin, Debussy and several of his own compositions, including a toccata he wrote when he was 16 and three musical portraits of his friends.

He is continuing his present tour with a concert in Vernon, B.C., Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, he would like to hear from anyone in Victoria or Vancouver who has "a very old record by a very old friend"—an English-made Columbia record of "Laughteritis" by veteran comedian Charlie Penrose.

"Some of my friends at radio station CKMO in Vancouver gave me this record when I was there in 1953," he said. "It was terrific and I loved it—and then I sat on it. It was awful. I simply must get another copy."

STILL YOUTHFUL

I have known Templeton since he was a poor student at the Royal College of Music in England and in Seattle I found that he has changed little since those days, retaining both his boisterous sense of humor and his intense interest in every kind of music from Bach to boogie woogie.

Classic and Controversial

MR. H. R. MACMILLAN'S BRIEF to the Sloan forestry commission has been discussed on this page during the week just past and remains a document commanding wide study.

He has closed his submissions with 55 recommendations, each of which is a big subject in itself.

Controversy has arisen and will continue to arise over certain of those recommendations.

On the first, the most basic, there can be no honest dissension: The policy of sustained annual yield of forest crop must be maintained and extended throughout the province.

While timber is being over-cut in important areas—and he submits factual evidence to show that it is, particularly in the eastern section of the Vancouver Forest District—the policy of sustained yield is not completely effective.

It serves little purpose to say that in many parts of the province timber is being under-cut. In the region where conversion plants are most highly centralized, more wood is being taken from the forests than is being grown each year. This means that forest industries dependent on supplies from the area, unless their sources of raw material are assured by private holdings or Forest Management Licences, face grave trouble if not extinction.

Obviously the timber available to non-holders of such licences shrinks whenever a new Forest Management Licence is granted in the area.

This, Mr. MacMillan points out, threatens the life of the market logger—a vital element in British Columbia's society and economy.

In this field the dangers of monopoly are apparent. Mr. MacMillan, who holds Forest Management Licences No. 20 and No. 21 on the West Coast of the Island, urges the Government to grant no more in the Vancouver Forest District where, he says, "we are on the brink of the precipice."

The Chief Justice will doubtless give full consideration to the arguments advanced by Mr. MacMillan, and to the consequences Mr. MacMillan foresees if more such licences are granted.

At the same time the commission will be in a position to weigh the case of the other side—the arguments of those who seek Forest Management Licences in the Vancouver Forest District. They can define the consequences if no more licences are granted—consequences to already established firms now employing large numbers of men in settled communities and cities.

Using a Labor Front

ATTEMPTS TO TIE UP ARGENTINE'S economy with a general strike apparently have failed. The General Confederation of Labor, by far the largest workers' organization in the country and the creature of the recent Peron regime, has not been able to persuade many workers to walk out.

Meat packing plants and several other important industries have been affected, although transportation employees did not respond and paralysis of business has been avoided. In retaliation the interim Government has arrested some railroad union leaders who planned to strike and in addition has seized the Confederation's headquarters and control of its funds.

It will be recognized that the current Argentine labor troubles are

Mr. MacMillan does not say, nor would he be justified in saying, that this form of forest tenure should be disallowed in the future in other areas. Some districts, in fact, cannot hope for the major capital investment to create plants that mean big development and payrolls unless such licences are granted.

The brief submitted to the commission places heavy emphasis on the onerous conditions imposed on licensees under the FML regulations. They are stringent—far more demanding than terms usually applied to other forms of forest tenure.

But they are not so onerous that they prevent companies from seeking Forest Management Licences. The number of applications that have been filed indicate quite clearly that FMLs have not priced themselves out of the market.

There is sound common sense in Mr. MacMillan's argument for increased public expenditure on forestry. More men are needed and higher pay is required to keep a competent staff. Beyond that, there are many measures to protect forests, including research, which should be applied by government to safeguard its own high timber revenues, if not to protect the industries which are responsible for about half the wealth produced in British Columbia.

Mr. MacMillan clashes sharply with the opinion reached by Chief Justice Sloan in 1945 on the question of an administrative forest commission. The Chief Justice 10 years ago strongly recommended a commission. Mr. MacMillan sees such a body as too handy a tool for political manipulation. He does not, however, explain how forest administration avoids politics when it is directly under a minister who is, by his very office, a politician.

It will be interesting to see how the Chief Justice deals with this question in his report following the current inquiry.

Many other issues of vital importance to the industry are canvassed in Mr. MacMillan's brief. It is, of course, a document prepared by a man who has achieved unrivaled success in his chosen field, though it clearly does not represent unanimous opinion on the part of all management.

The brief provides a reference work of unique value. Beyond the assistance it may furnish the commissioner in his investigations of the forest industries, it should serve as a classic document for study by all men concerned with the most important single factor in British Columbia's economy.

political rather than economic. It is the nucleus of supporters of the deposed dictator Juan Peron who are causing the trouble, not to improve the lot of the workers but to demonstrate their continued allegiance to the exiled leader. For this reason the present Government's action should be judged in the light of the political emergency. This appears not to be oppression of organized labor but counter-attack against political interests using labor as a front.

The General Federation of Labor will be well advised to purge itself of its political affiliations as quickly as possible, in its own interest and that of labor in general. But this may prove a difficult job inasmuch as it was created by and has never until now been free of Peron's personal control.

How Are Dirty Dairies Overemphasized?

AGRICULTURE MINISTER KENNETH KIERNAN adopts an unusual position when he takes it upon himself to "set the record straight" regarding charges of dirty dairies in the Fraser Valley. Mr. Kiernan has expressed the view that the unsatisfactory sanitary conditions were over-emphasized by a newspaper.

In his report on conditions there—not on Vancouver Island—Mr. Justice Clynne says, "There is no doubt that the system of farm inspection . . . has broken down entirely and is practically useless."

To this he adds: "A great number of farms are in first-class condition and are a credit to the community, but the conditions on others which are supplying milk for human consumption are disgusting and deplorable."

How can it be said, then, that any newspaper exaggerated Mr. Justice Clynne's statement. Milk, like Caesar's wife, must be above suspicion.

They Can't Read, But They Do

PITY THE POOR PARENT WHO hopes his child may be literate—even a little literate.

A few weeks ago, the public of Greater Victoria was introduced to details of Dr. Rudolf Flesch's techniques—briefly a return to phonics and a repudiation of the word recall system in the teaching of reading. Teachers of the community disagreed with the sweeping statements of Dr. Flesch.

Now comes Dr. Emmett A. Betts, director of the Betts Reading Clinic, who tries to blow away the strength of phonics by calling the method a "hiss and groan" system.

Were it not for one point, humanity might reconcile itself merely to radio and television as the only instruments of communication.

And what is the saving point?

Only that young people—Johnny among them—do learn to read, perhaps not perfectly, but with a great deal more understanding than many of the more severe critics assume.

Meeting Adjourned

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

EARLY this month I said that whenever Anna Russell uses a certain easy and rather dull and pointless little method of making people laugh, she is allowing herself to be less than an artist. She is TO THAT EXTENT not an artist. I didn't say she was NEVER an artist. Far from it. But a reader misread me . . . readers are very hasty types, almost as hasty as writers . . . and wrote to upbraid me. He or she forgot to include his or her address, and even the signature is hard to decipher. So I have to make a public reply.

People simply will not read what you say. They read what they think you say. Often this is a writer's fault, but often it is the reader's fault. I knew a naval officer who had a rubber stamp made. Whenever trouble arose through anyone not reading an order properly (or at all), he would start using his rubber stamp, which said: THEY WILL NOT READ THE ORDERS. OR THEY DO NOT READ THE ORDERS. I forget which. For other occasions he had other stamps, too, though they need not concern us here. One of them, I remember, said: ERRORS WILL CREEP IN.

ERRORS certainly creep into what people think I said when I didn't. If I describe an unusual Boy Scout, I am accused of calling him a typical one. If I ask for a broadminded tolerance of certain aspects of Catholicism (I am not a Catholic myself), I am called the bigoted product of a narrow Catholic education . . . and called it by people who should certainly know all about bigotry. And if I say Anna Russell is occasionally untroubled by self-criticism, and once in a while may be unworthy of herself, I am told I am unfair to her and have a big gap in my sense of humor.

SURELY if I say "she is to that extent not an artist," I imply that she otherwise IS an artist. Nobody is perfect. If I mention an imperfection of Anna Russell, I may offend the members of an Anna Russell cult, but I can hardly offend anyone else. And if I am anxious to see her become better than ever, then I am a truer friend of hers than is the person who thinks her feeblest jokes equal to her best ones. As a joker on a small scale myself, I should certainly hate to think my better jokes were no improvement on my very ill-advised ones, of which the memory now makes me groan, and I'm glad I now groan instead of tending to repeat the darned things. I hope I continue to grow up. And I hope, on her larger scale, Anna Russell keeps tending to grow up . . . though not so much that she ever fails to please the huge crowds whom she now so usefully and delightfully amuses.

I WILL bet you that Anna Russell sometimes groans to think of lesser jokes she once used. Being, as I say, an artist, the minute she stops groaning about past mistakes, she will cease to develop and that will be a pity. And a few years from now, she may easily be groaning at what some of us consider her few mistakes of 1935.

If I didn't admire her a lot, I would not care whether she made any mistakes or not, few or many, big or small. There is more than one sort of fault-finding. The fault-finding of the devoted admirer can be a great compliment; and is very different from the fault-finding of a blind, deaf, or snooty spoilsport.

CULTS I SPOKE just now of offending possible members of a possible cult. I suppose it is just too easy to get a rise out of cultists. But it can still bring on some astonishing explosions. Try, for example, telling a roomful of the devout that you don't think Charlie Chaplin invariably funny. And then run, before they lynch you. And before they prove once more the derivation of the word "fan," which is short for a fanatic. If they seem merely restless instead of warlike, go another step, and say you do not think Chaplin was always just the pathetic underdog, but rather a criminal type . . . highly immoral and anti-social, really . . . and by no means always a defeated little crook but a smart and triumphant one. Tell them that. It is partly true. (I said PARTLY.) But cultists who claim to be worshipping the underdog do not always worship the undertruth.

AND if you still don't get a rise out of your pals, there is always Dr. Schweitzer. Now, the good doctor is not only a very good man, but a very gifted one, and extremely versatile as well. But it would still be possible to argue that he is not the greatest thinker since 1900 or even the greatest thinker alive today. Further, it would be possible to argue that half the people who worship him are only doing it because they have been told to do so by other people . . . they can't tell you one saying of Schweitzer's, whether it bears the stamp of greatness or not. The other half may be worshipping him for definite reasons, but mistaken ones.

I am not being merely naughty (though I dare say I am being a little naughty, at that). There is a good deal in what I say. Enough to make it worth considering, anyhow. But just try saying it to an average gathering, even when it doesn't consist entirely of cultists. Wow. You might even invent some way of combining a disrespectful remark about Dr. Schweitzer into one ingenious firework. And if you could manage at the same time to suggest that you sometimes grow tired of James Thurber's repeated use of formulae . . . well, just ask me to the party and I'll be there with muffled bells on.

TOO MUCH LIFE IN THE BOTTLE

'Shocking' Conditions Demand a New Deal

THE feature of Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne's report on British Columbia's milk industry that has raised the most excitement is his condemnation of sanitary conditions on many mainland farms. The Commissioner's charges, made public last week, will have political repercussions of wide importance. They will also, it is to be hoped, result in a thorough reform of a situation that could seriously endanger public health.

Dairy farms on Vancouver Island were not included in Mr. Justice Clynne's condemnation. Apparently the farmers and the inspectors have been on the job here and kept conditions up to proper standards.

But in the great milk production area of the Fraser Valley the Commissioner found many a farm where conditions were "disgusting and deplorable," even "shocking."

"There is no doubt," says the Commissioner, "that the milk from some of the farms which I looked at should never be allowed on the market for human consumption."

He concludes "that farm inspection in the Fraser Valley is an absolute 'arce'." That is strong language for a Commissioner to use. But the hearings brought out damning evidence from officials who knew the situation. In addition Mr. Justice Clynne visited many farms in the Fraser Valley to see for himself.

SCRUPULOUSLY CLEAN

Many dairy farms, he says, were excellently run. The personnel and equipment were scrupulously clean; there was a proper milkhouse with facilities for cooling the milk, there was abundant hot water for cleaning equipment, the cows were well-kept and healthy, and barns and barnyards were clean and tidy.

But on all too many farms the story was the reverse. The Commissioner found cows in filthy condition and reduced to skin and bone, barns strewn with several days' manure accumulation, dust-laden air in milking places, chickens

COURAGEOUS CHILDREN?

At the meeting of this council held on Wednesday last, I was instructed to write you and express our delegates' admiration for the courageous efforts of the newspaper delivery boys during the period of severe weather which we have experienced recently.

Also, I was instructed to protest the employment of child labor by the newspapers. Reports reached us of small boys, numbed with cold, pushing bicycles through the snow.

It is indeed regrettable that children of tender age should be exploited in spite of efforts over the years to eliminate this uncivilized practice.

It would appear that there are loopholes in the child labor laws which need plugging.

A. P. RAYMENT.

"IDIOTIC" ATTACK

Upon reading the article entitled "Newsboys Win Praise, Bosses Rapped" in your Times of Thursday, Nov. 17, I can't help but feel that the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council has proffered an unasked-for opinion—unasked by the "youthful newspaper carriers" themselves.

The many young carriers around these parts seemed to be taking a typical boy-like delight in the snowy situation and though not denying the fact that they were probably good and cold before the end of the route they were as usual, polite and still able to smile. These "boys" are sufficiently adult to realize their responsibilities and man enough to stick to the job even when the going was tough, a lesson that should be heeded by the interfering labor group.

Hats off to the "youthful newspaper carriers," their behavior in an adverse situation is indicative of the good and responsible citizens they now are and will continue to be in the future—able to obtain and hold jobs on their own merits, never needing the backing of any organized "gang."

Newspaper boys are not conscripted, never have been, in fact. A situation of which the pre-school playlot mentalities in the labor group responsible for such idiotic write-up seem to be unaware is that in actuality there are more boys desirous of routes than there are routes to be had. Facts speak for themselves.

PRaise BY ENGLAND GIVEN

Mrs. Marshall and all of us are indebted to the English in London for our gladness over Irene Byatt's success there.

I wouldn't know if any English people think that "no one but the English can do anything," as Mrs. Marshall states. However, it would seem as if they can do some things better than certain other people, namely, make dispassionate judgments in which no prejudice of any kind has a place.

Because of this, Miss Byatt and a number of other Canadians have received high recognition in England in their chosen professions, and have been started on their way to international renown. Canadian artists, including Miss Byatt, have complained that they don't get recognition in Canada, that is, the kind which brings fame. Hence, the journeys to London, Vienna or some other important centre.

At the regular meeting of the James Bay PTA, held on Tuesday, Nov. 8, it was agreed unanimously that the above association would like to commend the young people of the James Bay District for their behaviour this past Halloween. ## 'Shocking' Conditions Demand a New Deal and pigs kept near milking facilities, no provision for cooling the milk, milk cans lying on manure piles, and other conditions difficult to imagine.

Under proper inspection such conditions would be corrected. Farms are supposed to be rated A.B.C. or Ungraded, depending on their facilities and cleanliness. By 1954, Fraser Valley inspections showed 77 Grade A farms, 2,764 Grade B, 21 Grade C and 649 Ungraded, but there was no indication in what years the inspections had been made.

Grade C farms are given permits for only 30 days. Within that time they must become B or better or they lose their right to ship milk for human consumption. Ungraded farms cannot ship milk for human use.

Now the total of Valley farms inspected up to 1954 amounted to 3,511. Yet in that year milk was shipped to market from 3,734 farms in the Fraser Valley. It is obvious, therefore, that milk could have been sold for human consumption from 21 Grade C farms, 649 Ungraded (condemned) farms, and 223 farms which had never been inspected at all.

NEVER INSPECTED

One farmer admitted that he had been in business since 1919 and had never seen an inspector. About 500 farms have never been inspected at any time. Other evidence showed that a visit only once in five or ten years was common.

The reason, it has later been explained, was that there was not a sufficient number of inspectors to do the work and carry out the provisions of the law. Why there were not enough has yet to be explained.

Such a situation, and the lack of liaison between Milk Board and inspection authorities, contributed to the "absolute farce."

The enquiry also brought out the fact that in at least one big mainland dairy, incoming milk was given only a quick test of looks and smell before being dumped into the common tank. Samples for more penetrating tests were taken only twice a month, so that a farm could send in contaminated milk for two weeks before it was found out. Dairy officials said it would be impossible from a practical standpoint to keep a closer check since deliveries could not wait for lengthy analyses. Some dairies have better systems.

The big safeguard, of course, is held to be pasteurization. This is compulsory in Vancouver and several other B.C. communities. It is not compulsory in Victoria, but 93 per cent of Victoria's milk supply is said to be so treated.

The Commissioner urges that it be made compulsory province-wide, with special exceptions for certified raw milk producers and communities too small to support a pasteurization plant.

DESTROY'S BACTERIA

The process consists of heating the milk quickly to a temperature of 143 degrees F. and keeping it there for 30 minutes, or to a temperature of 161 degrees for 15 seconds. This destroys disease bacteria, (such as those producing undulant fever), and most of the other bacteria which eventually cause deterioration. But it may not destroy all the toxins which disease bacteria may have produced, it does not destroy all the other bacteria, and it does not ensure that the milk will be clean and sweet.

In other words, pasteurization is only an aid to ensuring healthful milk—although a powerful one, since Vancouver has so far escaped illness from milk. Proper sanitation, Mr. Justice Clynne stresses, must begin on the farm.

There must be healthy cows, clean barns and yards, clean milking methods and equipment, and proper cooling facilities (to discourage growth of bacteria before pasteurization). Distributors must have clean handling and delivery facilities, and the same safeguards must be continued right into the home.

All this shows the need for a long chain of conscientious care on the part of milk producers and distributors. It is a chain that has had some weak links, as the enquiry has brought out. One witness, an Assistant Livestock Commissioner, estimated that 1,000 Fraser Valley farms were unfit under the regulations to ship milk for human consumption.

The morning bottle on the doorstep can contain a lot more than vitamins if proper care is not exercised. But when milk is at its best it is the world's best food. Why this is so will be examined in tomorrow's article.

Nattering

I KNOW men call it nattering, and are apt to be a little scornful, but I like the casual conversations that women have among themselves. They're stimulating and important.

I liked the talk I had with an unknown mother who, like myself went to watch a Grade 5 swimming class at the Crystal Garden several weeks ago.

She'd had an awful rush to get there, she said, and she'd gone round by her mother's on the way because she always phoned her mother about 10.15, and she knew her mother would worry if there was no phone call and she didn't get an answer if she rang the house.

Now there's a side of life that lots of us know well. I wonder just how many women in Victoria phone their mothers every day. My guess is that there are hundreds. I phone mine every evening about 7.30 when I've fed the dog and made the porridge for the morning.

And I fancy that the conversations we all have are very much the same—the letter that came in the mail, something we saw down town, what the children have been doing, what we're going to cook—or have just cooked—for supper, an item of news we read in the paper.

Most of it's just nattering. But I sometimes think that the nattering of women helps to hold the world together. We've been doing it for centuries. I think there's little chance that we shall stop. I bet you anything that if the final bombs began to fall somewhere, some woman would say, "Wait a minute. I forgot to ring up Mother." And her husband would chafe and chafe and be quite powerless to do a thing. Short of hitting her on the head!

I liked the casual talk I had with the woman in the grocery store. We were grumbling about the monotony of housework, and talking about the tasks we loved and the tasks we loathed.

She hated ironing, she said, because when she was ironing she had time to think, and it almost drove her crazy. Well, the stretches when I feel slightly crazed are those when I don't have time to think.

And what conversation, followed up, would make a column in itself. Crazed if you have time to think, or crazed if you don't have time to think? Which group do you belong to? Bleak outlook, isn't it?

I liked another bit of nattering I had with a woman in a store.

It was funny, she said, but when you were young you thought a man with curly hair and lovely teeth was what you wanted. But, by the time you were 40, the hair and teeth were unimportant, and you'd prefer something that was easy to get along with and interesting to talk to.

And if that isn't a case of changing values, I don't know what is!

And it seems to me that one of the causes of the adolescent mental attitudes of this continent is the over-emphasis we place on physical youth and beauty.

We do it to such an extent that millions of people think that when physical youth and beauty vanish—as they most surely do—then life holds nothing more.

Could anything be sillier? Or more neurotic? No wonder Walter B. Pitkin made a packet!

Ugh! There are times when the mass-thinking on this continent makes me absolutely sick.

YOUR HEALTH

More Than a Man Can Bear

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many persons object to my talking about the heredity of mental troubles while others write saying that such articles have been of tremendous help to them. For instance: An ex-soldier writes to tell me how when, for a time, he cracked up nervously in Korea he was terribly distressed and ashamed; he felt he had let down his buddies, his country and his family.

But then came a kindly psychiatrist, who pointed out to him that all men, when subjected to terrible strain, have a breaking-point. Some break soon and some break late, and much depends on how sensitive and fine and emotional and gifted a man is. Much depends, also, on the strength or weakness of the nervous system that he inherited from his ancestors.

As the psychiatrist said, "If, instead of being a highly sensitive and gifted musician, you had been a dull stodgy laborer you might have stood up to the awful strain of combat longer than you did. But you stood up longer than many other men of your type did, and so you have absolutely nothing to be ashamed of. Your company will always look on you with respect. You have been a good buddy, so go now and get a few days of rest and sleep, and then you'll probably be all right again; you'll be able to 'take it' again."

Similarly, in my office I often look with admiration on a patient who has come in with an inferiority complex. As I say so truly, "When I see how frail a body and how unstable a nervous system you inherited from those eccentric and difficult parents of yours, I feel like taking off my hat to you with admiration for what you have done in life."

Every so often I marvel at what a man or woman has done with life, in spite of the fact that there was much insanity in both his father's and his mother's stocks. I remember such a fine friendly woman who worked her way through college and then was a fine, affectionate wife to a man; and she did all this in spite of the handicap of a terribly hypersensitive nervous system that was always playing miserable tricks on her.

COST OF A MEDICAL EDUCATION

A while ago, as I had luncheon with Dean Coggeshall, of the University of Chicago Medical School, I was interested to hear him say that today, with a falling number of applications for a medical education, the schools cannot get as many high grade students as they would like. Because of this, they are having to take some men who may not make ideal physicians. They may not have the splendid ability and judgment and idealism that a doctor should have.

Often I receive letters from people who greatly resent the fact that some physicians charge heavy fees and make much money. I, too, worry much about the costs of diagnosis and treatment, but I do not know what can be done. After a man has spent perhaps 12 years of his life after high school, preparing for his life-work as a specialist, he can hardly be blamed for wanting to make a good living. I just read that the cost of a medical education averages $2,138 a year. Tuition and fees run around $900 a year. This means that, after spending some $25,000 and working hard until he is 30, the young doctor can rent an office. If he starts in a big city, he may make more or less starve for another three years until he can get the start of a practice. If he plans to be a consultant, he will probably, for the next 10 years, have to give half of his time to a university clinic, or where he may or may not be paid a few thousand a year.

The other day a physician told me that the man who came to make a quick adjustment on the television set charged more for his call than the doctor can get for his house calls! I know that many persons, on reading this, will sit right down to write me a bitter letter. I do not blame them. They have suffered much. But there is little sense in attacking me because I sympathize deeply with the people who have to pay so much for illness, and I do not know what the solution is except to do as I do, and carry insurance.

SHOES

Someone just asked me about shoes, and why women so often make a mess of their feet by cramming them into shoes that are too short and too pointed. Just look at a baby's foot with its square front, and then look at the foot of his grandmother who, all her life, has pushed her feet into shoes "that are pointed. Look at her painful bunions, produced by the dislocation of her big toes. She, also, has painful corns, due to excessive pressure on parts of her feet.

It would be wonderful if some day we human beings would get enough sense so that we would wear only shoes made really to fit our feet. Certainly, we ought always to try to get some that are long enough, and not sharply pointed in front. An orthopedist friend of mine once said sadly to me, "I tell my daughters the right kind of shoes for them to wear, but they won't wear them!"

As I have said before in this column, there are many persons who are born with weak or poorly made feet, and with poor arches which soon break down. In many of these cases, if only early in life the person were to get in touch with a good orthopedist, he or she might be saved from a lifetime of hobbling about.

The Third Seal

SIR JOHN A'S SPECTACLES WAIT 5 YEARS FOR REPAIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Sir John A. Macdonald's broken spectacles are to be fixed—five years after their disrepair was brought to the attention of the Commons itself.

The spectacles—pince-nez, to be exact—are held in the hand of a statue of Canada's first prime minister on Parliament Hill.

No one seems to know when they were broken. But five years ago Jean-Francois Pouliot, now a senator but then Liberal member for Temiscouata, complained about it in the Commons.

A few days ago workmen began to scrub up the statue as part of a refurbishing program for all Parliament Hill's statuary. The cleaners told a reporter they hadn't been told to fix the specs.

The matter was laid on the doorstep of the Public Works Department and fast action was promised.

Young Libs Would End Taxation of Schools

MANNING PARK (Special)

—B.C. Young Liberal Association

convention Saturday approved a resolution asking that separate schools organized on a religious basis be exempt from municipal taxation.

The resolution was presented by Victoria delegate William

Moresby and was approved in the dying minutes of the convention.

Mr. Moresby said he was referring specifically to Roman Catholic Schools, which he said have "made a large contribution to the educational system."

Convention delegates headed home Sunday with a renewed confidence in their campaign to spread the cause of Liberalism.

Members received words of praise and words of caution from Harper Prowse, leader of the Alberta Liberal party, at the closing banquet in Pine-woods Lodge at Manning Park.

BIG JOB AHEAD

The 45-year-old Alberta MLA said the party still has a big job to do before it can defeat the Social Credit administration.

The Liberals were last in power in Alberta in 1921, he said, and lost much ground in the political field until the last few years.

He said the Liberal party is on the upsurge in Alberta and

B.C., "but it takes time to once again regain our position."

Other endorsed resolutions called for the establishment of an independent board to control

radio and television in Canada, and favored establishment of a government air ambulance service.

William Street, 33-year-old

Vancouver lawyer, was elected president of the Young Liberals, succeeding Roy Burns.

William Moresby was named

Vancouver Island organizer.

Stevenson Hits Foreign Policy Of Republicans

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson led a Democratic assault Saturday against what he called "special interest government in Washington," which he said offers a shaky peace, deceptive prosperity and no progress.

Flanked by party leaders who voiced the same theme, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee who wants to be its 1956 standard-bearer, tore into the Republican campaign slogan of "peace—prosperity—progress."

In a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate roast beef dinner, Stevenson said there is a "spiritual uneasiness" among people that the Eisenhower administration has settled for too little in meeting world and national problems.

He said that despite President Eisenhower's efforts at the Geneva summit conference "the cold war is still in a deep freeze" with the free nations' security system "deteriorating" and "a safe and orderly world . . . still a distant goal."

He said that "today most Americans dwell upon the plateau of prosperity which the Republicans inherited from us" but he contended that the well-being of 20 million Americans on farms "is sinking while the Republican cheer leaders shout: 'Everything is booming but the guns.'"

Stevenson said he agrees with GOP leaders that "moderation is the spirit of the times." He added "But we best take care lest we confuse moderation with mediocrity, or settle for half measures to hard problems. A democratic society can't stand still and the world won't stand still. Moderation, yes. Stagnation, no. As the history of nations reminds us, nothing fails like success."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who wore the air of a man likely to formally challenge Stevenson for the nomination, agreed largely with his potential rival's theme. In a prepared speech, he called the GOP's handling of foreign affairs a "failure."

Former president Harry S. Truman predicted an "overwhelming" victory for the party in 1956 presidential and congressional elections.

Thieves, Prowlers Active on Week-End

Petty thieves and would-be burglars were on the prowl here over the weekend.

A fur coat was stolen, a shop-lifter made off with a $10 radio and a prowler fled empty-handed when surprised in a private home. Nothing was reported missing after one successful and two unsuccessful attempts at breaking and entering.

A $200 fur coat belonging to Mrs. E. A. Crane, 1201 Judge Place, was stolen from a check room at the Golden Slipper, 1318 Broad between 9 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. Sunday.

Someone stole a small portable radio valued at $10 from the Thrift Shop, 2605 Douglas, Saturday afternoon.

A person standing on the street outside the shop said he saw a man come from the store, take a radio from under his topcoat and drive off in a car.

Police were checking the licence number of the car today.

PROWLER FLEES

D. Hurst, 1713 Fernwood, scared a prowler off when he went to the basement of his home at about 9:40 p.m. Saturday.

The prowler was crouched on a wood pile when Mr. Hurst entered the basement. The man escaped through a window.

Entry was gained by kicking open a wooden basement window.

Burglars ransacked an office safe at Veteran Stages Ltd., 723 Herald, overnight but could find no loot. A rear office door window was broken to gain entry.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UP)—The newspaper El Lider said today that Generals Jose Leon Bengoa and Juan Jose Uranga were under arrest.

Bengoa was named army minister soon after the revolt that deposed president Juan D.

Peron. He quit four days before acting president Eduardo Lonardi was ousted by the forces of now acting president Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu.

Uranga was one of the leaders of the anti-Peron uprising and had served as minister of transport in the Lonardi government.

Eskimos Get Big Welcome; Anxious to Meet Als Again

3,000 Fans Witness Team Drill

By DENNY BOYD

Looking every bit as poised, polished and powerful as a Grey Cup champion is expected to look, the Edmonton Eskimos arrived in Victoria Sunday and immediately set about adding to that poise, polish and power.

Last year's dominion champions left the frozen fields and numbing cold of their home town to set up training camp in Athletic Park. There, behind closed gates for the most part, head coach Frank "Pop" Ivy will conduct twice-a-day practice sessions before the Eskies head for Vancouver's Empire Stadium and Saturday's Grey Cup rematch with the Montreal Alouettes, the same club the Eskies defeated in last year's classic.

Some of the greatest names in Canadian football stepped briskly off a TCA charter flight at Patricia Bay Sunday morning at 10:35. There was blond, drawing Jackie Parker, who secured a niche in Canada's football hall of fame in last year's final with a game-busting 85-yard touchdown gallop.

There was slender, dapper Rolie Miles, the fellow who turned up at an Edmonton practice several years ago, asked for a tryout and went on to become one of the club's greatest stars. There was chunky Normie Kwong, hiding behind a scholarly pair of horn-rimmed glasses and singing praises of his fullback partner Johnny Bright.

And there was the big man behind the Eskimo story, the tall, boyish-faced Ivy, hugging several roles of scouting movies under his arms and choosing his words with deliberate care when quizzed about his club and its chances of repeating in the 1955 Grey Cup.

Ivy, asked his opinion of Montreal club, said tersely, "They've got to be good to come from behind like they did Saturday against Argos."

Parker, as relaxed and easy-going off the field as he is intense during a game, drawled, "Ah reckon that Montreal club must be pretty hot to get five touchdowns in the second half that way. That should be a good ball game Saturday 'cause don't you forget, we're a pretty fair ball team ourselves."

Kwong said the majority of the players were glad they were going against the Als again Saturday so that the team could remove any doubts that lingered over the closeness of last year's clash.

The pile-driving plunger also had high praise for Eskimos double-fullback formation. Kwong plunged to a new Western Football Union rushing record from that formation this year and said, "It's a great formation to run from because it takes the pressure off the fullback, Johnny (Bright) has been going like a bomb recently."

When reminded that he, too, had been doing some fair scampering, Kwong replied, "Maybe so, but not like big John."

Raw-boned Laurie Hodson was talking to a Victorian about the weather and remarked that it was a beautiful day.

The Victorian said that Hodson should have been around a week ago, "when it was really cold."

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE
With a perfectly straight face, Hodson said, "Yes, you must really have suffered in the 15 above stuff." He then went on to describe a practice session in Edmonton last week when the club was doing wind sprints in five-above-zero weather.

Close to 3,000 Victorians turned out to watch Sunday afternoon's sweat-soaked drill at Athletic Park. The team limbered up with a willing and good-natured calisthenic period and then ran through signal, passing and kicking drills.

Parker's pin-point passing (who said he can't pass?) and Miles' artistic pass-grabbing brought applause from the stands while the brilliant faking of the Eskies' backfield on their belly-plays kept the ball hidden and the onlookers mystified.

Centre Kurt P. Tris missed the first practice. The former Oklahoma All-American is nursing a sore knee but is expected to be ready for Saturday's game.

The club was scheduled to work out twice today, with a signal drill this morning and a full-strip scrimmage in the afternoon. The same routine will be followed through the week.

MAYOR GETS PUCK POST
BRANDON (CP)—Mayor James Creighton, a former National Hockey League player, has been appointed coach of Brandon College Caps of the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union. Creighton did not seek re-election as mayor and will step down from the civic post at the end of the year. He was coach of the Caps three seasons ago.

IT'S OLD HOME WEEK HERE

Members of the Edmonton Eskimos didn't feel too far away from home Sunday when they arrived at Victoria for their Grey Cup training. A large contingent of former Edmontonians waited at the airport to greet the team and among them was Victoria Cougar captain, Colin Kilburn, a transplanted Edmontonian. Kilburn talked over old-times with Rolie Miles, left; Steve Mendryk, second from right; Laurie Hodson.

Als Electrified Fans Prepared for the Worst

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes won the eastern Canada football championship Saturday in one of the most electrifying football spectacles ever seen on a Canadian gridiron, a heart-stopper that ended with the gallant Toronto Argonauts on the short end of a 38-36 score.

It was a game of savage comebacks, mighty reversals that piled up one touchdown after another and sent each team reeling, only to have each strike again with an amazing display of fight and courage.

It was a game, too, of sensational passing by Sam Etcheverry of the Alouettes and Tom Dublinski of the Argos, a game in which fumbles and pass interceptions played a part, a last-ditch stand in which exhausted ball carriers and sagging linemen somehow found strength to carry on.

A bewildering four-touchdown upsurge in the second quarter carried Argos to a 24-9 lead at half time. The stunned Montreal crowd of 21,103, shivering from excitement and the freezing weather, was prepared for the worst.

But the doughty Alouettes tightened their defences and struck with a blitz of their own for three touchdowns in the third quarter to lead 26-24. Then it was Argos again, in front 30-26, but once more Alouettes took over the lead and never gave it up.

Six times each team crossed the other's goal line. The end result shows that Bud Korchak's field goal—the first score of the game—was Alouettes' safety margin of victory.

But in the final analysis it was a lightning pass interception and 50-yard touchdown gallop by Montreal's Johnny Williams that broke up the ball game.

One or the Other, But Al Missed

That fourth-quarter touchdown gave Alouettes a 38-30 lead. Had the ball, fired diagonally across the field by Dublinski, reached the outstretched hands of Al Pfeiffer, Argos' brilliant pass receiver, it might have been Argonauts instead of Alouettes in the Grey Cup classic against Edmonton Eskimos next Saturday in Vancouver.

Even then the Toronto team had a final explosive touchdown pass left. But time was fast running out on Argos, and the big clock ended the hopes of what could have been the Cinderella team of the 1955 football season.

Etcheverry fired two touchdown passes to Joey Pal and one to Hal Patterson. Pat Abuzzi bulled over, from a yard out, for another; hefty Herb Trawick sprawled on the ball in a wild scramble for the first touchdown of the game, and Williams finished it off.

The arrival back in port of the Navy team, an impending decision on the inclusion of Kerrisdale in the league and to tonight's game between Drake Hotel and Nanaimo are factors expected to put the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League back on an even footing.

Clippers and Drakes, the top team in the league, will meet at Memorial Arena at 8:30 in the only game scheduled.

Clippers scored a wide open, 11-6 victory over Kerrisdale Saturday night in Nanaimo. League president Doug Fletcher will confer with Nanaimo manager Frank Crane tonight and Fletcher will decide if Kerrisdale will be included in the league for the rest of the season.

With their sea manoeuvres over, the Navy club will return to action for next weekend's games.

The sailors missed three games but those games will be picked up and each of them will count for four points in the league standings to even the teams up.

The smooth-gear Nanaimo club fired 71 shots at Kerrisdale netminder Wismer Saturday night and Wismer was credited with 60 saves. Always ahead in the game, Clippers were led by Arnie Dugan and Angie DeFelice, with two goals each, and George Milford and Don Ashbee, who counted three assists apiece.

Cup Replays
LONDON (Reuters)—Football Association Cup first round games tied Saturday will be replayed this week as follows:
Tuesday, Nov. 22: Charlton vs. Darlington, night.
Wednesday, Nov. 23: Aldershot vs. Torquay, day; Crewe Alexandra vs. Barrow, day; South Shields vs. Crystal Palace, day.
Thursday, Nov. 24: Shrewsbury vs. Ollingham, day; Walsall vs. Margate, day.

Winnipeg 5, Edmonton 4; Regina 2, Saskatoon 1

Victoria Cougars and Seattle Americans continued their feud in committee today following Saturday night's 3-2 victory by the Americans at Seattle in a continuance of Friday night's brawl here.

The Cougars protested the Saturday game on the basis that referee Blair Peters erred in his interpretation of rules 42F, 66A and 66B.

The points in question concern Peters' rulings following a penalty box fight between Cougar Bill Davidson and Seattle coach Bill Reay.

The ruckus began following a penalty to Davidson, when Reay blocked the entrance to the penalty box, which is adjacent to and actually part of the Seattle players' box.

Davidson shoved Reay out of the way and Reay responded with a headlock. Seattle players joined the melee and Victoria players skated across the ice and also entered the altercation.

Ex-Cougars Do the Damage

Goalwise, the Americans came from behind a two-goal deficit in the first period to eke out their overtime victory.

Barton Bradley, a former Cougar, got the winner during a double Cougar penalty, to Marcel Pelletier and Colin Kilburn, at three minutes of the extra session.

Another ex-Cougar, Alex Kuzma, tied the count for Seattle at 16:06 of the third. Guyle Fleider scored the first American counter at 2:46 of the second period.

Kilburn and Doug Macauley tallied for the Cougars in the opening period.

The defeat dropped the Cougars two points behind Vancouver.

The Cougars were penalized for their part in the fracas (jumping on the ice to enter a fight) while the Americans got off scot free. Cougars claim both teams should have been penalized.

In addition, Reay was ruled out of the bench. However, despite Cougar protests, he was allowed to sit in the section adjacent to the Seattle bench from where he continued to handle the club.

Cougars protested that Reay should have been removed from the immediate vicinity of the bench.

"In our opinion, Peters is guilty of misinterpretation of the rules," team managing director Fred Hutchinson said when announcing the protest.

Canucks who blanked New Westminster Royals, 3-0.

In other games Winnipeg edged Edmonton Flyers, 5-4, on Brian Cullen's overtime goal and rookie Norm Johnson supplied the winner, also in overtime, as Regina Regals nipped the Saskatoon Quakers, 2-1.

For Cullen, it was the second time in two nights that he had scored the winning goal in overtime for the Warriors who now are within two points of Edmonton in their second-place battle in the eastern division.

Cougars play three games this week, travelling to Vancouver Tuesday, hosting the New Westminster Royals here Friday and playing a return game with the Royals at Westminster Saturday.

VICTORIANS WHO SHIVERED through last week's cold snap would have felt much happier had they talked to members of Edmonton Eskimo football team. The Eskies arrived in Victoria Sunday in 40-degree weather and blue skies prompted players like, left to right, Earl Lindley, Ted Tully and Jackie Parker, to bask in the comparative warmth, compared to Edmonton's four above.

Winnipeg Ballet Here Tuesday, Wednesday

Artistic Victoria is expected to pay tribute Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the Royal Victoria Theatre to the reborn Royal Winnipeg Ballet.

The 17-year-old company, Canada's oldest professional ballet, has captivated audiences with superlative performances in the opening of a western tour, first since a 1954 fire that destroyed the company's quarters and costumes and almost put it out of business.

Dazzling new ballets combined with colorful older standards make up the two programs here.

The company will present four ballets, "Parable" by Gweneth Lloyd, founder and director of the company; the pas de trois from act one of "Swan Lake"; Paddy Stone's "Classico," a modern ballet choreographed to South American rhythms; the "Blue Bird pas de deux"; the well-known "Don Quixote," and an abridged version of "The Devil in the Village."

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND

The performance is sponsored by the Victoria Kiwanis Club. Curtain time will be 8.30 each night, and attending Tuesday will be Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross and party. Following the performance, the governor will be host to the cast at a Government House dinner.

Canadians Didn't Like It -But They Will, He Says

HOLLYWOOD (CP)—Eight movie-star panelists listened to Spade Cooley's "I Don't Ever Want to be a Princess" in front of weekend radio and television audiences and voted 7 to 1 that the song will be a hit, despite its implied reference to the Princess Margaret-Group Capt. Peter Townsend romance.

Disk-jockey Peter Potter, who emceed both shows, said the switchboard "lit up like a Christmas tree" after both programs with telephone calls, not all of them favorable. The telecast was seen only in southern California.

Potter said a few of the protesting calls came from Canada. "They don't like the song," Potter said. "But I bet the song will be smuggled up there some way and the Canadians will like it."

Master Plays 17 Concertos In 5 Concerts

Prodigious Feat By Rubinstein

LONDON (AP)—The British musical world Sunday acclaimed pianist Arthur Rubinstein for his triumphant completion of a herculean keyboard cycle: 17 piano concertos in five concerts in three weeks.

The 65-year-old white-haired, Polish-born master ended his marathon attack on the musical catalogue with four concertos Friday night at the Royal Festival Hall.

What made Rubinstein's feat more remarkable was he kept commuting across the English Channel to perform a similar prodigious series of concerts in Paris during the same three-week period.

These are the works he played in London with the London Philharmonic Orchestra, directed by Adrian Boult:

Oct. 27 — Beethoven's Fifth, Schumann's A minor Opus 54 and Rachmaninoff's in C minor.

Nov. 4 — Mozart's in A, Beethoven's Fourth, Grieg's in A, Liszt's First.

Nov. 12 — Beethoven's Second, Brahms' First, Tchaikovsky's First.

Nov. 14 — Beethoven's First, Franck's Symphonic Variations, Brahms' Second.

Nov. 18 — Beethoven's Third, Chopin's First, Nights in the Gardens of Spain by De Falla, and Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini by Rachmaninoff.

Red Chiefs Testing India's Tie to West

Tour of Russian Leaders Produces Offer to Share Atomic Secrets

LONDON (AP)—Britain is concerned about the current visit of Russia's two top leaders to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

Communist reports here said Soviet Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party head, are prepared to offer economic aid and loans of technicians on terms rivaling the United States "Point Four" aid program and the Commonwealth-sponsored Colombo plan.

India's Prime Minister Nehru and Burma's Premier U Nu have walked the neutralist tightrope between the East and West. Both recently were feted by the Soviet government on visits to Moscow.

One British official here said the "Khrushchev-Bulganin visit may test the loyalty of India to the British Commonwealth."

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev sought Saturday to bring their country still closer to this land of Gandhi with an offer to "share" Russian experience in atomic energy, industry and electric power.

The offer came during the first full day of their visit to India, taken up with sightseeing and a public meeting attended by more than 150,000 persons.

The two leaders used the occasion to seek strengthening of Soviet-Indian ties, but Prime Minister Nehru gave no hint whether he is ready to convert already cordial relations into a firm embrace.

Nehru did, however, drop a veiled warning in his guests' hearing that he would never permit India's 307 millions to fall under Communist rule.

Nevertheless, the general opinion here was that this had been a good day for the Russians.

Pilot Blames Locked Propeller For Plane Crash Which Killed 27

SEATTLE (AP)—Propeller failure was blamed Saturday by the pilot for the midnight crash here two days ago of a chartered DC4 that claimed the lives of 27 of the 74 aboard.

In a dramatic hospital room news conference, William J. McDougall, 40, Miami, Fla., told of the desperate cockpit struggle to keep the big four-engine plane aloft with its load of GIs back from the Far East.

McDougall said without hesitancy the crash, two minutes after takeoff from Seattle's Boeing Field, was caused by inability to "feather" the malfunctioning propeller on the No. 4 engine.

He explained that feathering a propeller means turning its blades with the edge to the wind like a knife. This must be done before control and altitude.

To those people we say, look ahead ten years. The amount of fuel oil and electricity your Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burner will use over that time will probably be 25% less than an ordinary gun-type burner will use. Maintenance costs will be much lower, too, because the only moving part in the entire burner is the self-lubricating mono-rotor. All this, plus the proud knowledge that you have the best in advance-designed heating equipment, puts you far ahead of the shortsighted man who accepts less than a Timken Silent Automatic.

Phone today! We'll be glad to arrange budget terms—the best permissible under Government Regulations—on the Timken Silent Automatic unit that's right for your home. You couldn't make a better buy!

Police Abandon Hunter Search

DUNCAN—RCMP here have abandoned their search for Lewis W. Billings, 36, Deerholme sawyer, missing from his Glenora Road home since Thursday at 6 a.m., when he left on a hunting trip.

Police had charge of large parties of men that searched the rugged terrain west of Deerholme Friday, Saturday and Sunday. They said they had exhausted all leads to the disappearance of the man, and would not resume an active search unless new clues were found.

A smaller party of local residents continued the search today in the country beside Cowichan River where Billings is believed to have gone.

Close to 70 men, assisted by two conventional aircraft and a helicopter, took part in Sunday's search.

Residents of the district, led by Glenora P.T.A., provided meals for the searchers.

FRIENDS PUZZLED

Deerholme is four miles west of Duncan.

Friends and neighbors have been unable to explain the disappearance of the missing hunter.

He left his home Thursday at 6 a.m. without breakfast, and carrying only six shells. He told his wife he would be home at 10 a.m., and he was known to be punctual. Late Thursday afternoon, when he had not returned, she notified police.

A report from a youngster that he had seen the missing man at 1 p.m. Thursday on Glenora road was discounted, and no check could be made on two gunshots reported in the vicinity of Cowichan river the same afternoon.

DUNCAN—Ratepayers of Cowichan School District 65 passed a $660,000 school building by-law Saturday by a comfortable margin.

With a three-fifths majority required for passage, voting was 1,196-492 in favor of the by-law. About 30 per cent of the 5,863 eligible voters in the district cast their ballots.

In the by-law plans are a new high school, new elementary school, and additions to seven other schools.

MLA Claims Timber Harvest Outruns Planting in B.C.

CHEMAINUS — The forestry picture in B.C. is "anything but rosy" today, Robert Strachan, M.L.A. Cowichan-Newcastle, told the Rotary Club here.

Nothing had been done as yet to implement the recommendations of the first Sloan report, made in 1945, he said. At that time, the report noted, there were 20,000,000 denuded forest acres in the province, 1,000,000 of them in the coastal area, and a continual cutting program was recommended. In the 10-year period since the report was handed down, only 80,000 acres had been re-planted and 725,000 acres cut, he said.

"Add to this the damage by fire and disease, and you'll agree it's time to take drastic action," he said.

Discussing forest management licenses and the suggested stability they brought, Mr. Strachan said: "The last thing we want in this province is stability. I suggest to you in the sense of the term used today, stability means to stand still."

Many of the terms of the system were almost impossible to enforce, and the plan might well be insufficient 20 years from now, he suggested.

"We are still exporting our forest products in a comparatively new state. The mill at Crofton will produce kraft pulp. This is only the second step in the production of the end product. It will be sent to the USA to be processed into fine papers, boxes and other articles. We must get these industries here. Under this set up in granting forest management licences, we are sacrificing the province for immediate gain," he said.

"I think it's time we realized that we can trade more wooden dollars without cutting more trees," he said.

Cyclist Strikes Rear View Mirror On Passing Car

CHEMAINUS — Seven-year-old Barry Nicholls was hospitalized here after being knocked from his bicycle by a car while riding home from school.

According to RCMP, he rode into the side of a station wagon being driven north on the old highway by Jack Milmore. The accident occurred at the intersection of Pine Street.

Struck by the protruding rear view mirror on the left hand side of the car, the youngster was thrown from his bicycle and suffered a deep gash on the face, a fractured cheek-bone and other injuries.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

Only once did Hitler stray from his war headquarters—for he feared, hated and distrusted his top generals.

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright, 1955)

BERLIN—As bitter winter weather set in late in 1941, stalling Hitler's thrusts into Russia, new difficulties arising in the vicinity of Rostov took his attention. Keitel and Jodl tried to talk him out of it, but Hitler decided to fly to Field Marshal Rundstedt's headquarters on the Black Sea near Taganrog. Rundstedt had suggested retreating, but Hitler was determined that instead of retreating the army should go on to capture Rostov for the sake of the coal to be found there.

Hitler's own S.S. regiment, the Adolf Hitler Liebestandarte, was fighting there. He did not intend to see it withdraw.

So in terrible weather, Hitler, General Schmudt, Dr. Morrell and I climbed into a four-engine Condor and flew to Pottawa. He told Keitel and Jodl that "I must go to see Rundstedt at all costs."

At Pottawa we squeezed into the tiny cabin of a Heinkel III. It was bitterly cold, and impossible to talk because of the roar of the engines. For 10 hours, cramped and shivering, we flew over the frozen Russian countryside. Hitler wore earmuffs and chewed biscuits from time to time.

On landing, Hitler sent for Sepp Dierich, commander of his own regiment, then went into conference with General von Rundstedt. I don't know what took place at that conference except that Rundstedt was dismissed from his command, and later Hitler said to me:

"That Rundstedt wasn't much good in the east, but he was very good in the west—especially for the French red wine."

Hitler Raged Like a Fire

We returned to Pottawa the next day, but could not continue the journey back because of the vicious winter weather. That night as we waited, cut off from all communication with the rest of the front, Hitler raged like a fire. He was desperate to get back to Wolfscranze to make certain there were no other threats of retreat. The night's experience made him decide that never again would he stray so far from battle headquarters and contact with his armies.

An integral part of the headquarters household in those days were Generals Keitel and Jodl. I was not so concerned with the conduct of military matters to know them well, but I think I can give a brief picture of Hitler's attitude toward them, as it was another phase of his relations with the army.

Keitel was usually referred to by many—out of his hearing, of course—as "Lakal." This was a play on his name, but conveyed the same sense as the English word lackey.

Hitler trusted him more perhaps than any other member of the high command. When Hitler ate with his officers, Keitel always sat at Hitler's right. Whatever subject was talked about, Keitel always agreed with Hitler.

The only time Keitel appeared to me as something other than Hitler's military yes-man was during the few days following the July 20 bomb plot. Hitler was injured and unable to preside over the military conferences. Keitel took over, but he was not given orders, but a brief picture of Hitler's attitude toward them, as it was another phase of his relations with the army.

Jodl Accused of Lying

But with the return of Hitler, Keitel was his own self again. At one of the first conferences, he proposed that the Wehrmacht should abolish the standard army salute and adopt the army salute of "Heil Hitler" with arm upraised and palm down.

Hitler was secretly pleased, because he knew many officers—whom he called "reactionaries"—did not see eye to eye with members of the party.

Keitel said that in adopting the Hitler salute, the Wehrmacht was insuring that, whatever a handful of officers might attempt to do, the army as a whole was for Hitler.

Jodl, on the other hand, was not so much of a yes-man. On military subjects, he would stand up to Hitler and argue his points. He was well liked by other members of Hitler's personal staff.

About 1942, Hitler got the idea that Jodl had lied to him about an incident in the Caucasus where there had been a setback on the front commanded by Field Marshal List.

"List hasn't carried out his orders properly," Hitler said to Jodl.

"But, mein Fuehrer," Jodl replied, "List carried out exactly the orders you gave him yourself."

Hitler jumped to his feet and shouted: "That's a lie."

I don't know what happened afterward, but from that day Hitler dropped his habit of eating with his officers, except on special occasions.

He also created a special security section of six male short-hand writers and six female typists. An S.S. security officer was also appointed whose duty it was to supervise the taking of a verbatim account of everything said at Hitler's military conferences.

The writers and typists worked as teams. The shorthand men would take down simultaneous records which they then dictated at once to the typists, while two other men took their places. Hitler had determined that never again would an officer be able to say that he had given orders which were later disputed.

Hitler's chiefs of staff came under criticism from time to time. General Halder, his first wartime chief of staff, was dismissed in September, 1942, after a disagreement over the situation in Stalingrad. Hitler said, "He looks and behaves like a schoolmaster. He thinks so slowly. Before he can utter a sentence the whole situation has changed."

He was succeeded by General Zeitzler, who was known as "General Kugelblitz," or "Round Lightning."

"List hasn't carried out his orders properly," Hitler said to Jodl.

"But, mein Fuehrer," Jodl replied, "List carried out exactly the orders you gave him yourself."

Hitler jumped to his feet and shouted: "That's a lie."

I don't know what happened afterward, but from that day Hitler dropped his habit of eating with his officers, except on special occasions.

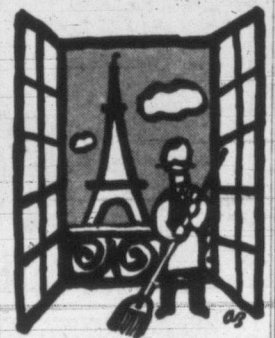

He also created a special security section of six male short-hand writers and six female typing." He was swift in speech and movement and had a round face. Zeitzler was the only military man to whom Hitler always offered his hand in greeting.

On one occasion, Hitler made a trip to Berchtesgaden, leaving "Kugelblitz" at headquarters. The Russians made a surprise move and the chief of staff immediately began a counter-action. Hitler rushed back from Berchtesgaden, examined the maps and the orders, then turned to Zeitzler and said: "I don't think I could have done it better myself."

Zeitzler was dismissed after the July 20 bomb attempt. Hitler had heard that some of his staff had said that "the Fuehrer was not a great commander."

Zeitzler asked for an interview with the Fuehrer who always had been pleased to see him. Hitler brusquely gave orders that he did not want to see him. The last I heard, Zeitzler had a breakdown and was in a nursing home somewhere.

Zeitzler was succeeded by General Guderian. After being held in great esteem, he went the way of the others at the beginning of the Russian 1945 offensive.

The disagreement which brought about the break was Guderian's defence of Colonel Bonin, who had given up Warsaw to the Russians. There were other differences; one was Guderian's disagreement with Hitler's insistence that the army should hold Kurland on Germany's Ostsee in the hope of starting a counterattack against the back of the Russian army.

General Krebs succeeded Guderian, and he was with Hitler until that morning in 1945 when he committed suicide in the Berlin bunker.

Naval Rating To Face Hit, Run Count

Police Wind Up 24-Hour Search

Charges have been laid against an 18-year-old naval rating in connection with a hit-and-run accident at Douglas and Johnson during rush-hour traffic Friday.

Meanwhile, police say they have solved another hit-and-run accident and are investigating a third. The latter two accidents occurred over the weekend and both involved pedestrians.

Charged with careless driving in city police court today was Robert E. J. Desormeaux, HMS Naden. He was remanded to Wednesday without plea at request of counsel J. G. Rutland.

Other charges against the sailor, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and violating a licence restriction, are pending.

Charges were laid against Desormeaux shortly after he was questioned by police at HMCS Naden barracks.

Injured in the Friday night accident was 30-year-old bus driver Robert McIntosh, 3291 Albion. He was reported in "good" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

He suffered head injuries and concussion.

Theft, Delinquency Charges at Colwood

A young Vancouver man was sentenced to three years in penitentiary when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Colwood RCMP court today.

Barry W. Simpson, 19, had pleaded guilty to two theft charges, one of being in possession of stolen property, and in juvenile court to contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Two Vancouver juvenile girls, one 16 and the other 17, also received sentences on charges arising from an incident a week ago.

A second young man, James D. Morgan 444 Constance, was sentenced to six months definite and two years indefinite at the young offenders' unit at Oakalla on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

The 16-year-old girl charged with breaking and entering with committing a delinquency was sentenced to an indefinite term at the girls' industrial school at Vancouver.

The 17-year-old was placed on a two-year probation and given a suspended sentence on a charge of committing a delinquency.

The theft charges against Simpson involved theft of medical instruments and children's dishes valued at more than $50 from the car of Dr. Mark Roach, Colwood, on Nov. 11, and theft of two blankets and a vacuum cleaner under $50 value from the car of Miss Florence Norton, Colwood, on Nov. 4.

The possession of stolen property charge involved an electric toaster and an electric kettle stolen from the Wedgewood Auto Court, Nov. 11.

Three-year term was imposed on the charge involving theft from the doctor's car. He was sentenced to 18-month concurrent terms for theft under $50 and possession of stolen property, and one year for "contributing."

The four were arrested at an auto court a week ago Sunday after Colwood RCMP followed prints of bare feet in the snow leading away from the home of D. J. Massie, 23 Sooke road.

A pair of loafer-type shoes belonging to the 16-year-old girl were found at the house.

With the Edmonton Eskimos doing their last-minute training in Victoria, Grey Cup fever has gripped the city as it never has before. Interest in the national football championship has reached a new peak.

The Times on Saturday will serve its readers with complete coverage of the Empire stadium game in its final edition.

To do this the edition will be held from the presses until the game is complete so that all the details can be reported. The final will take the form of a special Grey Cup edition and should be on sale shortly before 5 p.m. Saturday, somewhat later than usual.

Times sports editor Bill Walker and football expert Denny Boyd will be covering the game and full facilities of both the Canadian Press and British United Press will be used in giving Times readers the full account.

Motorcyclist Breaks Leg In Car Crash

A 59-year-old Esquimalt motorcyclist is in "fair" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today suffering multiple injuries received in an accident Sunday on Trans-Canada Highway.

Hospital authorities said Henry D. Hayward, 780 Dominion, sustained a compound fracture to his leg, possible pelvic injury and scalp cuts.

Colwood RCMP said the accident occurred at about 10:55 p.m. as Mr. Hayward was riding toward Colwood just past the Saanich boundary.

They said he was in collision with an oncoming car driven by Gordon McLean, Errington.

WOMAN HURT

A woman injured in an accident at Hillside and Wark at about 8:25 p.m. Saturday is in "good" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police said Therese Hale, about 40, 3254 Wicklow, received a broken right leg, multiple abrasions and facial cuts when in collision with a car driven west on Hillside by Robert Daniel Green, 17, 841 Selkirk.

A 15-year-old youth told police at the scene that a man had picked up the woman's wallet from the street shortly after the incident.

The wallet contained $10 and had not been turned in to police.

Mrs. Fred Allen, 66, 703 Pine, was treated at hospital for a cut over her right eye following a two-car accident at Kings and Fifth, Sunday, at about 3:25 p.m.

She was a passenger in a car driven north on Fifth by Fred Allen, which was in collision with an auto proceeding west on Kings and driven by Joseph R. Barnsley, Glen Lake.

ASK The TIMES

Q: On what date—and in what reign—did the dynasty of England officially change from the name of Hanover to Windsor?—I.D.L.

A: During the First Great War, on July 17, 1917, it was announced that King George V had abandoned all German titles for himself and family. At the same time a proclamation to the effect that henceforth the royal house of England and Ireland would be known, not as the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, or popularly as the house of Hanover or Brunswick, but as the House of Windsor.

Q: Is there an organization in Victoria which can translate foreign letters? I would also like to know the address. The letter I have in mind is one written in modern Greek.—T.L.

A: If you consult Mr. P. Rapanos at the Olympia Cafe, 755 Yates Street, he will be pleased to help you in this matter.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Forest Policy Supported at Labor Meeting

The B.C. Federation of Labor in convention has agreed in favor of the provincial government's forest management licence policy, delegates to the 12th annual meeting in Vancouver reported here today.

This represents a change of B.C.F.L. policy, formerly strongly opposed to granting of such licences.

The resolution passed by the 117-man convention added the rider that "the forestry department set aside sufficient timber to protect the small logging operator."

The resolution was presented by Victoria branch 1-118, I.W.A.

Another resolve presented by the local here and passed was one securing high passenger and freight rates between here and the Mainland. Delegates agreed to approach the Vancouver Island Chambers of Commerce and all interested island groups to press for "reduction of these excessive rates."

Re-Opening Set For Gorge Park

Gorge Park will be reopened to the public next year, it was learned today.

Transfer of the B.C. Electric Gorgeside park to the Municipality of Esquimalt should be completed within a week or two, according to B.C. Electric vice-president, E. W. Arnott.

"The legal papers are in process of being prepared," he stated.

The transit firm is making a gift of the 16-18 acre park, located at the northwest end of the Gorge Bridge, to the municipality.

It will be developed by Esquimalt as a further step in the Gorge reclamation program.

Extensive planning for the development has already been undertaken by Capital Regional Planning Board and according to Esquimalt councillor and parks board member, George Argyle, the park will be open to the public in 1956.

He said funds for the development will be included in the 1956 budget, but he was unable to state a total cost. Removal from the park of Gosper Road which now cuts through it diagonally is planned. It will be looped before entering the park.

Two beaches will be constructed and roadwork within the park will take place along with clearing of underbrush.

Full plans include building of playgrounds and concessions, but this phase is not expected to be completed in 1956.

"But the park will be opened," he stated.

The BCE offered the park to Victoria years ago when Mayor Percy George headed a park development in this area. At that time Esquimalt suggested to the company that the park should be given to Esquimalt and promised development.

The municipality argued that it was located within that municipality. The BCE subsequently agreed, and recently Victoria City Council gave its unqualified agreement to the proposal.

By MONTE ROBERTS

Well, I see the Eskimos arrived, I said.
"The which arrived?" asked My Favorite Wife.
Not the which, the who, I corrected her.
"Very well, then, to whom are you referring to whom?" inquired MFW, who is nothing if not grammatically impeccable.

The Eskimos, I said.
"And where," she asked, "did the Eskimos arrive?"
Here, I said, and I think it is a fine thing, we should all give them a wonderful welcome.

"I have no objection to welcoming the Eskimos," said MFW, "but don't you think they have made a big mistake, coming to Victoria?"

What do you mean, they made a big mistake? I echoed.
"They no doubt read the greatly exaggerated reports in the newspaper about our recent weather," said MFW. "This caused them to believe they would find ice and snow here, while the truth is, we had no ice and snow whatsoever, it was all a fabrication of the newspapers to gain circulation."

On behalf of this newspaper I will plead guilty, I said. I will agree that wasn't ice and snow, it was simply an out-of-season April Fool picture perpetrated by Bill Halkett, I added.
"Then someone should find those poor Eskimos, and tell them the truth, and send them home," My Favorite Wife declared.

So far, they seem happy here, I said.
"Oh, they can't be," cried MFW. "Why, the poor things. Not even a single cake of ice with which to build an igloo—even a small igloo with no TV room."

But I tutted....

"Don't but me," MFW went on, "without ice for an igloo, where will the poor Eskimos live?"

Right now, I said, they are living at the Empress Hotel.

"Oh, that isn't so bad, then," she concluded. "If they want ice with which to build an igloo, they can always call room service."

I let that one go by without even trying to field it, and continued: "Anyway, they'll be spending most of their time at Royal Athletic Park, I said.

"Whatever for?" asked MFW, and then answered her own question: "Oh, I see. Exercising their dog teams, of course."

Naturally, I said, reaching for an aspirin.
My Favorite Wife leapt to her feet and clapped her hands in delight. "At last," she cried, "I've found it."

What? I asked, incautiously.
"A use for the mayor's toy boat pond at Holland Point," she exclaimed. "We'll use it to raise fish to feed to the Eskimo's dogs."

Splendid, I said, weakly.

"The only thing bothering me now," said My Favorite Wife, "is what I do when I meet the Eskimos. Do we rub noses before or after we are introduced?"

Yes, I said.

Mill Strike
End in Sight?

Striking steam engineers of 16 B.C. sawmills expect an end to their 15-day strike late today, an official of the engineers' union said this morning.

Discussions were under way today in Vancouver between the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, representing the 150 striking men, and Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing operators of the strike-bound mills.

"We are looking forward to a mutually satisfactory agreement late today," said C. H. Parker, union business agent for Victoria and Vancouver Island.

The engineers' powerhouse employees in the mills concerned, seek a 10 per cent wage increase. Their strike has killed about 2,400 members of the CCL International Woodworkers of America, who in several locations are crossing the engineers' picket lines.

Don't Dig Up Dead-Looking Garden Plants

By JACK BEASTALL

Is your garden looking sickly after last week's cold snap?

The Vancouver Island Association of Nurserymen today gave some "do's" and "don'ts" for home gardeners worried about the care of plants damaged in the low temperatures.

A preliminary survey indicates that losses will be extensive, but the full story will not be known for at least 12 months.

Many plants normally hardy in zero temperatures have suffered because the mild weather immediately before the cold snap had kept them in active growth.

Home gardeners are advised not to discard any plants which appear dead at this time. While top growth has been killed, portions of the plants which were protected with a covering of snow possibly will send out new growth in the spring.

Damaged portions of plants should not be cut away as they can afford some measure of protection should a similar condition occur later in the winter.

No fertilizers should be applied either now or next spring. Damaged plants must be allowed to become re-established fully before fertilizers can be used safely.

Many plants have been lifted from the soil as the frost penetrated. In some instances this has caused roots to break. Pressing the plants firmly back into the soil and covering any exposed roots with sifted dry compost, soil, or peat moss, will give them a better chance of survival.

Miss and Mrs. Umbrellas Brighten the Rainiest Days

By PENNY SAVER

Gay, bright colors to spark up grey clouds in smart, up-to-the-minute design to give that chic look, are all a part of the new umbrellas made especially for Mother and young daughter. Pagoda-style, these umbrellas come in all colors, and the one that impressed me most was a bright purple with white polka dots. I told you they were gay! Mommy's has a curved, leather-covered handle in mauve, while the little Miss' has a sturdy, easily cleaned plastic one. They cost $4.50 and $3.95, respectively, and are shaped the same, for the mother-and-daughter look that is so appealing.

Still for the little people, are rounded umbrellas, in a bright green color with all-over patterns of pastel umbrellas. These also come in solid colors and varied plaids. The cost? $2.39. Little girls love to have things "just like Mommy's," and these umbrellas will please them... and please Mommy too, cause clothes will stay much dryer.

Either as a "Santa's gift" or as a pre-Christmas surprise, delicate and feminine pink nylon quilted robes, with an all-over pattern of tiny rosebuds, are cosy and warm and very pretty, too, for the little girl in the house. They have notched collars, a large patch pocket and comfortable tie belt. In sizes to 6X, they're $8.98; 10 to 12, $10.98 and 10 to 14X, $12.98.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Fortunately, after many years experience with "Why Grow Old?" I am usually able to understand what some of my more fanciful readers write me. For instance, not long ago I received a letter from a reader which read:

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: "How long should I hang upside-down by my feet from a bar?" At first glance, such a question is quite startling. But of course, she had a horizontal bar in mind and was thinking of the "Beauty Angle." As many of you know the "Beauty Angle" means, to most people, a slanting board with your feet at the high end and your head at the low end. This reader was going to do it the hard way.

This position does stimulate circulation in the head, believe me, and is supposed to protect or promote youthful contours of the face. Perhaps it has some value this way. I gave it up as a beauty routine when I learned that one must lie upside-down for an hour or so from the age of 40 on in order to have youthful contours.

I also receive letters from readers asking what to do about a high abdomen. That might mean a happy abdomen or good digestion, but I know that it means fatty deposits over the diaphragm and on the upper abdominal wall.

These fatty deposits are much easier to lose than fat on the lower abdomen. The following exercises will be helpful:

1. The Pendulum Swing—Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, extending out from your shoulders, palms toward the floor. Keep your fingertips on the floor as you swing your legs like the pendulum of a clock, trying to bring your feet up to your hand on each side. Keep your knees stiff. If you cannot at first swing as far in each direction as I have suggested, go as far as you can on each swing, but keep the feet close to the floor throughout this exercise.

2. The old front bend is fine if you do it correctly. When you raise your trunk after bending forward, lift your ribs cage up. Stretch upward through the torso, rather than with your arms. Arms should be relaxed.

If you would like to have my exercises for slimming the abdomen send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Letters Help a Lot When Family Is Separated

By ELIZABETH R. HURLOCK, PhD

When a family is separated by hundreds of miles, letters go a long way toward keeping the members together. Many young people do not understand this.

Q—"My daughter, our only child, was married three years ago and has been going from one place to another with her husband since he went into service a year ago. When they were nearby, she used to telephone us and have short visits with us. Now she is so far away that a telephone call is too expensive except for an emergency.

"My husband and I, like all parents whose children have left home, are lonely and miss our daughter very much. I have told her how much her letters mean to us but she says there is nothing to write about. As a result, we often do not hear from her for a month at a time.

"I wish you would write a column and point out to young people how much letters mean to their parents."—Mrs. S. T.

A—Many young people feel they must have some exciting news before they are willing to sit down and write even a brief note. They fail to realize that just a few lines, telling of the everyday happenings in their lives would mean much to their parents.

Parents, too, are often offenders here. They feel they have "nothing much to say" and as a result put off writing letters until there is an urgent reason for writing. By doing this, they drift away from their children, just as children drift away from their parents by not writing them and keeping contact.

You may get your daughter to write more often by setting a pattern for the type of letter you would welcome by writing such letters to her. Tell her what you and your husband are doing; what your relatives, neighbors and friends are doing; what is going on in the community; and any other news that might interest her.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Ever since my childhood (and that, my dear readers, is a long time ago) I've known of the Island of Skye. It held a special place in my imaginative dreams and always as an island of romance. Mainly because of the stories I was told (and as I grew older, the ones I read) of Bonnie Prince Charlie.

It was to the Island of Skye that this brown-eyed prince came down one morning, after Culloden. In a small boat over a stormy sea. He was dressed in women's clothes. With him was Flora MacDonald who claimed this six-foot, golden-haired, ungainly "maid" as her servant. Then, too, it was on the Island of Skye, that Bonnie Prince Charlie said good-bye to Flora MacDonald. A small boat waited for him on the stormy shore and he went off to France with one last debonaire smile and a wave of his hand. Never to return. You can well see then how Skye would become peopled with the kilted-ghosts of the '45. And that the MacDonald clan could loom large in the mind of one who loves the romantic stories of old Scotland as I do.

Last week, however, another Flora came into my life. Another Flora who claims Skye as her home and the home of her clan.

Flora Macleod of Macleod. The "Chief" as she is called by her clansmen.

Meeting Flora Macleod has given me a broader view of Island of Skye. I know it's still steeped in history. I know it still has its ghosts. But I also know that it has a present and a future. And that future is wrapped up in the dreams and the ambitions of the Chief of the Macleods.

With an acknowledged 77 years behind her, this pink cheeked, white haired woman, with the quiet serenity of all Highland grandmothers, has set herself the task of travelling the highways and the skyways of the world to find her clansmen (many of them left Skye in the days of the rebellion) or to locate their descendants. Just as the Highland Chiefs of olden days sent their men running over the hills (sometimes with a fiery cross in their hands) to gather the clans for emergency council or for war, so this strong-willed little woman with the clear Celtic blue eyes is gathering her clan. Only now it is in a peacetime project.

"Come," she says, "Come to Skye! See your ancestral home. Meet your people." She might well add, "Come visit us. Give Skye a chance to become popular and prosperous."

The Story of Skye Told in Modern Way

In each place she visits she gathers the Macleods around her. She talks to them of Skye. She tells them of Dunvegan Castle, the oldest inhabited dwelling in Scotland and the home of the Macleods for well over a thousand years.

She talks of the Coolins, the mountains of Skye. And she speaks the Gaelic names of the great peaks, Glamaig, Sgurr nan Gilleann, Sgurr Alasdair, Sgurr Ghreadaidh and Sgurr Mhic Coinneach, with the list of the Hebridean songs in her voice.

She tells you that the Black Coolins are on Macleod land—and belong to Macleods. The Red Coolins, however, on Macdonald land, have been sold—and to Campbells, no less. "Ah well!" Dame Flora says, "I'm glad they still belong to a Scottish family."

She talks of the Fairy Flag that holds a place of honor in Castle Dunvegan. And you know that in Skye at least, it is no old wives tale, it is a truth that has come down the ages.

The circle around her is held still and interested. Eyes glisten. You can see the resolution forming in the minds of these Macleods she has gathered together, to return to Dunvegan once at least, before too long.

That is what Flora Macleod of Macleod wants, most of all, "Come home," she says. And she means it.

For despite her English accent (more noticeable over the radio than any other time) and the English mother she proudly acknowledges she is as Scottish as the heather on her own hills of Skye. She walks straight-backed and with the step of a woman of 20 years younger. Her head is high. When she hears the "Road to the Isles" sung by Jack Dunbar, she closes her eyes and sits upright in her chair. Her hands move with the rhythm, her feet tap out the air, but her thoughts are miles away. Her heart is in Dunvegan Castle.

Nevertheless she's on a dedicated mission and she'll go on until she has finished it. Despite the fact that it will keep her away from Scotland this Christmas and over the New Year.

Good luck to you Flora Macleod of Macleod! May you make Skye known to all the world! May your clansmen rally around you and may they return to Skye year after year, in ever increasing numbers. May Dunvegan Castle remain the home of the Macleods for another thousand years!

COMING SOON

Changemakers In Food Stores

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian housewife soon may find automation replacing the familiar market cashier.

The prediction that automation is coming to the food industry was made recently at the Canadian National Packaging Exposition.

Jack Gesner, sales manager for Steinberg's, a Quebec firm of chain stores, told 5,000 persons attending opening day sessions that magnetic ink on the bottom of purchases will automatically ring the cash-register as milady pushes her groceries through a monitor. The system would operate faster than human hands can do the job.

AS ONE ESK LOVER TO ANOTHER...

Local football fans and transplanted Edmontonians turned out in force at Patricia Bay Airport Sunday to offer a rousing welcome to the defending Grey Cup champions. Far out in front of the reception line was little Donna Dickie, a former Edmonton resident, who climbed right up on head coach Frank Ivy's lap to make it clear that she "loves those Eskos." The button is a souvenir from a previous Grey Cup. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

GREY CUP FANS THROW GRAIN PIT FOR A LOSS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was suspended for several minutes today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange when a parade of Toronto football fans, led by the Toronto girls' pipe band, marched into the pit. The fans are in Winnipeg for the day en route to the Montreal Alouettes versus Edmonton Eskimos Grey Cup game in Vancouver next Saturday.

Cheer leaders turned handsprings on the trading floor. Several traders joined in an impromptu square dance.

Traders whistled and cheered as Miss Canada, 22-year-old Delyce Smith of Whitehorse, Yukon, and Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cat, 18-year-old Joan Lounsbury, were brought into the pit.

Frank Rolph, parade chairman, said the 216 fans who left Toronto Saturday "have been having lots of fun but they're not getting much sleep."

They leave by train for Calgary tonight.

New Deal Clears Way For Giant Pipeline

OTTAWA (BUP)—An agreement has been reached between Ontario and the federal government on the building of the costly Northern Ontario leg of the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said today.

Details will be revealed later today, by means of "several announcements" by his office, Mr. Howe said.

It was understood one of the scheduled announcements would cover an agreement between the federal government and the Trans-Canada Pipeline Company on construction of the 675-mile stretch from the Ontario-Manitoba border to Kapuskasing, Ont.

The Northern Ontario bridge, through market-scarce territory, would cost about $118,000,000. Ontario would put up some $35,000,000 and the federal government would contribute the rest.

The two governments will join in the establishment of a crown corporation to supervise construction. Then through another agreement between the federal government and the private company, Trans-Canada would lease that stretch of the line with an option to buy within a 10-year period. At both ends it would connect with the rest of the 2,250-mile route to bring Alberta gas to eastern Canadian markets.

The governments will recover their construction costs, along with amortization and interest charges, in the lease rates and the purchase price.

The pipeline company, beset by financing problems for the past two years, will build the rest of the 2,200-mile pipeline from Princess field in Alberta to Toronto and Montreal.

The company must still hurdle the obstacle of a hearing before the federal power commission at Washington, D.C. The hearing involves the company's plan to sell part of the Alberta gas to the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company for distribution in the lucrative U.S. mid-west markets. The gas would be taken by Tennessee at the Manitoba-North Dakota border via a spur line from Winnipeg to Emerson, Man.

Harrison Would Stop Chlorination of Water

Mayor Promises Action in 1956 If Re-Elected

By PETE LOUDON

Mayor Claude Harrison will try to halt chlorination of Greater Victoria water supply next spring if he is re-elected Dec. 8.

He said today he knows the Greater Victoria Water Board, of which he is chairman, is in favor of the change.

But Reeve E. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, a member of the board, was not so sure the mayor's claim is correct.

The reeve said the question has not been discussed by the board to his knowledge. Personally he was a great lover of pure well water but "there might be good reasons for retaining chlorination of our Sooke Lake water supply, and I'm not prepared to back the plan one way or another until it has been discussed fully."

WATER BETTER?

Mayor Harrison claims the water has improved so greatly it is now nowhere near the danger point. It was shown last summer (by test), that water requires no chlorination, he said. "I think you'll find that it will be lifted by the spring."

He suggested the step might be effected "when the spring run-off is completed in May."

District water supply from the Sooke lake watershed has been chlorinated since early in the Second World War, when the step was ordered by the federal government as a protection for the thousands of troops and defence workers in the area.

REFERENDUM HELD

On Dec. 14, 1946, a referendum was held to see if the people of Victoria wanted to continue the measure. It passed by a majority of 573. Voting was 4,099 and no. 3,426.

The mayor said the wording of the referendum was a joke. "It was like asking 'are you still beating your wife?'"

He said the question before voters was "Are you in favor of continuing the protection of our water supply by chlorination?" He added that in his opinion the decision to halt the procedure can be made by the Greater Victoria Water Board. The board is comprised of city, Oak Bay, Saanich, and Esquimalt representatives.

Asked why he thought the measure would go through, the mayor replied, "I know that's the feeling."

"We'll have the best water of any city on the continent... the forests are a great purifying element," he said.

Ladysmith Rink Scores Upset

VANCOUVER (CP)—An unranked rink from Ladysmith, B.C., playing only its third game of the season, defeated former Dominion champion Bill Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., 10-8 today to rack up a major upset in the first annual Totem bonspiel.

The Dr. A. H. Bowler foursome, whose last competitive play was in the Nanaimo bonspiel last March, led the Rose rink all the way, scoring a two-ender on the first, a five-ender on the third and a three on the ninth.

Here are results for other Victoria and Vancouver Island rinks taking part in the primary event: Draw No. 8:

Lauder, Victoria, 10; McCord, Vancouver, 8.
Barry, Barons, Alta., 7; Garraway, Victoria, 5.
Cartmell, Vancouver, 11; Osborne, Port Alberni, B.C., 4.
Maxwell, Sceptre, Sask., 9; Moisey, Victoria, 8.

Government Resigns

TOKYO (UP)—The government resigned today to clear the way for Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama to form a more powerful cabinet by bringing in some former Liberals to stiffen Japan's front against Communist peace blandishments.

Vatican Says Pope Pius Saw Christ in Vision

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today that the Pope saw a vision of Jesus Christ during the most critical moments of his grave illness last winter.

The recovery of the desperately ill pontiff began soon after. The announcement was made by Luciano Casimiri, chief of the Vatican press office, upon authorization of the papal secretariat of state. The secretariat normally would make such statement only with the personal authorization of the Pope.

Casimiri told newspaper men that they could state that "responsible Vatican circles" confirm the report of the vision published last week in Oggi (Today), large Italian weekly magazine.

Oggi said that on Dec. 2, 1954 when the Pope's illness reached a climax the pontiff began reciting the prayer "anima Christi" (soul of Christ).

When he came to the invocation "in horae mortis mea, voca me" (in the hour of my death, call me), the Pope saw "the sweet person of Jesus Christ at his bedside," said the magazine.

"In that moment, the holy father believed that the Teacher came to call him to Himself, and, serenely answering to the call, he continued the prayer: 'Jube me venire ad te' (order me to come to you). Jesus, however, did not come to take him, but to console him and give him the certainty that his hour had not yet come."

NOT A DREAM

Oggi said: "The holy father is perfectly sure he saw Jesus—it was no dream: in that moment he was fully awake and clear-minded."

"On the following day, when it seemed there were no hopes left, when the world's newspapers already had been circulating forecasts of a forthcoming grave catastrophe, the ailing Pope started to improve in such a sudden manner that many people considered it a miracle."

Today's announcement by the Vatican recalled a previous declaration by a senior Vatican prelate that the Pope saw a vision of the Virgin Mary in 1951.

Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archbishop of St. Peter's basilica, made that announcement in October, 1951, during a commemoration of the appearance of the Virgin Mary at Fatima. He told a throng of tens of thousands that the Pope had witnessed the same miraculous vision at the Vatican.

Later, Vatican sources privately said that the Pope had observed not a vision of the Virgin Mary but the same phenomenal girations of the sun which were reported to have accompanied the vision of the Virgin Mary to the little shepherd children of Fatima.

However, officially the Vatican never explained the statement by Cardinal Tedeschini, whose position is close to the Pope. Nor has the Vatican ever made the private explanation—given to newspaper men either official or public.

PASS DEFENCE?

It is probable that Eskimos will devote much of their afternoon practices to working out a pass defence to thwart the tremendous passing of Montreal quarterback Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry, who led Montreal into the Grey Cup in thrilling victory over Toronto Argos Saturday in the Big Four final.

Victorians will be interested in watching the Esk patented twin-fullback formation, which, combined with the ball-handling split-T magic of quarterbacks Jackie Parker and Don Getty, forms an extremely deceptive ground game.

On the social calendar, the players probably will be restricted to a little golf and fishing, if the excursions can be worked in without disturbing coach Ivy's practice schedule.

Ivy made it clear Sunday that the team is here to work and work hard as it goes all out in an effort to become the only western team ever to win the Grey Cup two years in a row.

EDEN URGED TO FLY FOR TALKS WITH IKE

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Mail urges Prime Minister Eden to fly to Gettysburg, Pa., for talks with President Eisenhower.

The Mail, which strongly supports Eden's Conservative government, says that with the breakdown of the Geneva Big Four talks "a common policy has again become of critical importance."

The Daily Mail says Dulles minimized the Geneva failure because of the impending presidential elections in the United States.

It claims the same elections are influencing American support of Israel through a desire to conciliate the Jewish vote at home.

Britain apparently is supporting the Arabs. "Here is a situation of grave danger," the paper says.

Fire, Car Skid Claim Two Lives

Indian Child Burns to Death; Car Crash Kills Duncan Man

DUNCAN—Two violent deaths, one by fire and one in a highway crash, marred the weekend here.

An 18-month-old baby, Sally George, was burned to death Saturday at 4:10 p.m. when fire destroyed the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph George, on Koksilah Indian reserve.

Sunday afternoon at 4:15 p.m. Walter Robinson, about 65, of Cowichan Lake Road, was killed instantly when his car skidded on an icy curve about a mile from his home, struck a pole, and careened into an oncoming car.

His brother, Henry, also of Cowichan Lake Road, only other passenger in the car at the time, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital for treatment of under-terminated injuries. His condition was described by hospital authorities today as "satisfactory."

Occupants of the other car suffered minor injuries that were treated on the spot. A Vancouver Island Coach Lines vehicle, it was being used to take passengers from Duncan to Lake Cowichan. Driver was Donald S. McCool of Duncan.

Robinson, a retired electrician, was well known in the district as rural mail carrier in the Maple Bay area after the First World War, and as one of the early members of the CCF party in the district. He is survived by a second brother and his wife, now in Vancouver.

An inquest will be held but no date has been fixed, RCMP said.

Police investigating the death of the Indian tot Saturday said the youngsters' parents were in Duncan when the tragedy occurred.

It is believed the fire could have started through the dead child's older sisters, aged five and six years, trying to start a fire in a heater. They escaped safely.

RCMP officials said both police and neighbors reached the scene almost immediately the fire was noted, but were unable to rescue the little girl.

Closest fire brigade was at Duncan, but firemen did not attend because the reserve is beyond their jurisdiction.

An inquest was scheduled for this afternoon.

Huge Deficit On Sewer Job Shocks Saanich

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Saanich will need another $700,000 to $1,000,000—over and above the original $2,000,000 estimate—to complete its big sewer project started in 1950, it was learned today.

The deficit facing the project has come as a blow to Saanich Council which up to a month ago was led to believe it was running within its budget.

It could mean Saanich taxpayers will be asked to approve a new money by-law to complete the job.

H. D. Dawson, municipal engineer, in an interim report to a council committee last week, disclosed that up to the end of May of this year the project faced a deficit of about $277,000.

The figure did not include the cost of operations up to the end of October when all work ceased and a full inquiry ordered into finances.

On the basis of the May estimate, as well as other errors discovered, the majority of councillors feel the cost to complete the project may run to as high as $1,000,000.

SURPRISED

Mr. Les Passmore, chairman of the sewage committee, said the engineer's report took him by surprise.

Mr. Passmore said he will see that a full report on the sewage project is submitted to ratepayers before the December elections.

Majority of councillors feel the system of accounting is partly to blame for the deficit.

Mr. Dawson puts much of the blame on the rising cost of materials and wages.

The inquiry so far has shown that no "day to day" account was kept of sewerage operation costs by the accounting department.

The engineer kept his own accounts but these did not tally with the quarterly account compiled by the accounting department.

PERSONNEL LACK

Councillors explained that the accounting department did not have the personnel or the accommodation to keep a full record of costs and for this reason the engineer was forced to do the work himself.

The final report on the sewage project is expected to become a stormy issue.

Here are some of the questions councillors will ask:

1. How much sewerage pipe is needed to complete the project?

2. Who is going to pay the difference for completing the project—the whole of Saanich or only the sewerage area.

Ottawa Reveals New Deal for Pipeline Leg

OTTAWA (BUP)—An agreement has been reached between Ontario and the federal government on the building of the costly Northern Ontario leg of the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said today.

Details will be revealed later today, by means of "several announcements" by his office, Mr. Howe said.

It was understood one of the scheduled announcements would cover an agreement between the federal government and the Trans-Canada Pipeline Company on construction of the 675-mile stretch from the Ontario-Manitoba border to Kapuskasing, Ont.

The Northern Ontario bridge, through market-scare territory, would cost about $118,000,000. Ontario would put up some $35,000,000 and the federal government would contribute the rest.

The two governments will join in the establishment of a crown corporation to supervise construction. Then through another agreement between the federal government and the private company, Trans-Canada would lease that stretch of the line with an option to buy within a 10-year period. At both

AS ONE ESK LOVER TO ANOTHER...

Local football fans and transplanted Edmontonians turned out in force at Patricia Bay Airport Sunday to offer a rousing welcome to the defending Grey Cup champions. Far out in front of the reception line was little Donna Dickie,

a former Edmonton resident, who climbed right up on head coach Frank Ivy's lap to make it clear that she "loves those Eskos." The button is a souvenir from a previous Grey Cup. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

3,000 See Eskimo Practice, Morning Workouts Open to Public

By DENNY BOYD

The Edmonton Eskimos will open the gates to Victoria football fans at all their morning workouts this week.

Eskimo assistant manager Gordon Ingram said this morning that head coach Frank "Pop" Ivy had consented to open the morning practices for the benefit of the many Victorians who wish to see the defending Grey Cup champions readying their offence and defence for Saturday's Grey Cup game with Montreal Alouettes at Vancouver's Empire Stadium.

However, secrecy will be the keynote of the afternoon workouts, during which the team will scrimmage in full strip. The team will run through signal drills in sweat suits in the morning sessions.

Decision to open the morning workouts to the public was probably prompted by the enthusiastic turnout of Victorians who packed Athletic Park for Sunday's light workout.

Nearly 3,000 watched as the Eskimos ran through passing, kicking and signal drills.

It is probable that Eskimos will devote much of their afternoon practices to working out a pass defence to thwart the tremendous passing of Montreal quarterback Sam "The Rifle" Etcheberry, who led Montreal into the Grey Cup in thrilling victory over Toronto Argos Saturday in the Big Four final.

Victorians will be interested in watching the Eskimo patented twin-fullback formation, which combined with the ball-handling split-T magic of quarterbacks Jackie Parker and Don Getty, forms an extremely deceptive ground game.

On the social calendar, the players probably will be restricted to a little golf and fishing, if the excursions can be worked in without disturbing coach Ivy's practice schedule.

Ivy made it clear Sunday that the team is here to work and work hard as it goes all out in an effort to become the only western team ever to win the Grey Cup two years in a row.

GREY CUP FANS THROW GRAIN PIT FOR A LOSS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was suspended for several minutes today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange when a parade of Toronto football fans, led by the Toronto girls' pipe band, marched into the pit. The fans are in Winnipeg for the day en route to the Montreal Alouettes versus Edmonton Eskimos Grey Cup game in Vancouver next Saturday.

Cheer leaders turned handspins on the trading floor. Several traders joined in an impromptu square dance.

Traders whistled and cheered as Miss Canada, 22-year-old Delyce Smith of Whitehorse, Yukon, and Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cat, 18-year-old Joan Lounsbury, were brought into the pit.

Frank Rolph, parade chairman, said the 216 fans who left Toronto Saturday "have been having lots of fun but they're not getting much sleep." They leave by train for Calgary tonight.

Guess it's just a matter of civic pride with Claude. If Vancouver's got bugs in their milk, we kin at least hev 'em in our water.

Other teams can't hold a candle t' them Eskimos—'thout th' risk o' havin' it eaten.

Mr. Gardner makes some funny deals t' sell dairy products, but he ain't so butter-fingered when it comes t' votes.

Chemical Protection Unnecessary Now Harrison Claims

By PETE LOUDON

Mayor Claude Harrison will try to halt chlorination of Greater Victoria water supply next spring if he is re-elected Dec. 8.

He said today he knows the Greater Victoria Water Board, of which he is chairman, is in favor of the change.

But Reeve E. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, a member of the board, was not so sure the mayor's claim is correct.

The reeve said the question has not been discussed by the board to his knowledge. Personally he was a great lover of pure well water but "there might be good reasons for retaining chlorination of our Sooke Lake water supply, and I'm not prepared to back the plan one way or another until it has been discussed fully."

WATER BETTER?

Mayor Harrison claims the water has improved so greatly it is now nowhere near the danger point. It was shown last summer (by test), that water requires no chlorination, he said. "I think you'll find that it will be lifted by the spring."

He suggested the step might be effected "when the spring run-off is completed in May."

District water supply from the Sooke lake watershed has been chlorinated since early in the Second World War, when the step was ordered by the federal government as a protection for the thousands of troops and defence workers in the area.

REFERENDUM HELD

On Dec. 14, 1946, a referendum was held to see if the people of Victoria wanted to continue the measure. It passed

Fire, Car Skid Claim Two Lives at Duncan

DUNCAN—Two violent deaths, one by fire and one in a highway crash, marred the weekend here.

An 18-month-old baby, Sally George, was burned to death Saturday at 4:10 p.m. when fire destroyed the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph George, on Koksilah Indian reserve.

Sunday afternoon at 4:15 p.m. Walter Robinson, about 65, of Cowichan Lake Road, was killed instantly when his car skidded on an icy curve about a mile from his home, struck a pole, and careened into an oncoming car.

His brother, Henry, also of Cowichan Lake Road, only other passenger in the car at the time, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital for treatment of under-terminated injuries. His condition was described by hospital authorities today as "satisfactory."

Occupants of the other car suffered minor injuries that were treated on the spot. A Vancouver Island Coach Lines vehicle, it was being used to take passengers from Duncan to Lake Cowichan. Driver was Donald S. McCool of Duncan.

Robinson, a retired electrician, was well known in the district as rural mail carrier in the Maple Bay area after the First World War, and as one of the early members of the CCF party in the district. He is survived by a second brother and his wife, now in Vancouver. An inquest will be held but no date has been fixed, RCMP said.

Police investigating the death of the Indian tot Saturday said the youngsters' parents were in Duncan when the tragedy occurred.

TIMES' ELECTION FORUM

Evening Council Meetings Favored by Most Candidates

Here is today's question:

"Recently Mayor Harrison stated that he favored night council meetings. I believe it might build greater interest in civic affairs if citizens who during the day could attend meetings."

"Would you please ask council candidates their opinions on the matter?"

MRS. R. B. I.

(Mayor Claude Harrison has declined to answer further questions in the forum.)

Mayorally candidate Percy B. Scurrah: "We tried night meetings for three months. The first time about 25 people came

ELEVEN NOW CONTEND FOR CIVIC OFFICES

The Times election forum is expanding as more candidates come forward seeking Victoria council seats. Eleven are now in the running for either alderman or mayor.

If the opinions expressed today can be accepted as an indication of future action, Victoria council may sit in night meetings next year.

Readers who have questions to ask of candidates should send them to this newspaper; one question per letter. Times reporters will endeavor to conduct interviews for the answers.
